RACIAL SHOWDOWN IN ARKANSAS

State to Open Bids on Schoonmaker Paving, Route 51 Widening

The State Highway Department will receive bids on Sept. 27 for the reinforced concrete paving of six blocks of Schoonmaker Ave. in Monessen.

N. G. Bell, district highway engineer, said contracts will be awarded soon after.

"There is a very good possibility that actual work on Schoonmaker Ave. will begin this year," Bell said. "If not, then certainly the project will be scheduled for next spring."

Bell said the new roadway has already been surveyed and planned. It will carry traffic route 906 north through Monessen from Sixth St. to Twelfth St.

To Blacktop Donner

The new section of Schoonmaker Ave. will correspond to the stretch from Sixth St. to Mohawk St., which was widened and paved a few years ago.

Bell said the proposed concrete paving will amount to .76 of a mile.

The Highway Dept. also plans to blacktop Donner Ave. sometime this fall. Traffic route 906 runs south through the city on Donner.

Plans for the Donner Ave. project have already been approved and actual work will probably begin in the near future, Bell said.

Route 51 Project

The state Highway Department will also receive bids on Sept. 27 for the bituminous surfacing of 4.47 miles along traffic route 51 from Uniontown to a point near Spillway Lake.

This project also includes construction of concrete traffic divisors and one I-beam bridge.

Bell said work on the new four-lane section will begin this fall. He said no detour is anticipated since most of the highway will be relocated.

"Eventually Route 51 will be four-lane from Uniontown to Pittsburgh," Bell said.

Register to Vote Until 9 Tonight

Vote registrations will be accepted at the Monessen City Building and Park Manor apartment office on Shady Ave. until 9 o'clock tonight.

Registrars will also accept registrations in Rostraver Twp. until 9 p. m. today.

Banks' Attorney Petitions Court For New Trial

Attorney Robert M. Carson of Greensburg counsel for convicted wife-slayer Edward Banks of Pricedale has petitioned Westmoreland County Court for a new trial for his client.

Banks, 30, was convicted of first degree murder with a recommendation of life imprisonment last Thursday.

Carson maintained trial Judge John M O'Connell erred in several points of law. Carson said O'Connell refused to allow testi- O'Connell refused to allow testimony from a witness who said he bumped Banks just before he fired the shot which killed his wife, Ruby, 27, mother of seven children, last April 4.

The attorney also said a witness for the prosecution offered "vague and meager" testimony.

Frank Ezerski Jr. of Monessen, who was a court appointed co-counsel with Carson during the trial last week, withdrew from the case after the conviction to accept a position as an assistant district attorney.

Sworn in last Friday, Ezerski will not be allowed to take part in any arguments in the event of a new trial.

Funeral Car Is Damaged by Fire

A car in a funeral procession at Belle Vernon cemetery caught fire yesterday afternoon.

It belonged to Alvin Reed, of 1227 Morgan Ave., Monessen, who was attending the burial of Mrs. Jennie Spurlock, of Monessen.

Firemen from Belle Vernon and North Belle Vernon extinguished the blaze caused by a defective carburetor. The hood and wiring were damaged.

A four-car accident also occurred during the procession.

11 Jurors Are Selected for Murder Trial

Eleven jurors were selected yesterday to hear a murder trial in Washington County Court involving a Monongahela woman.

The 12th juror and two alternates were to be picked today.

The defendant is Mrs. Lena Trappin, charged with the strangulation slaying of Joseph Mancuso, 65 year old Monongahela shoemaker, last May 1.

Mancuso's body was found lying near the home of Mrs. Trappin. Monongahela police arrested the defendant after they found blood stains and other evidence in her home.

The case is being tried before Judge George T. Cummins.

First Assistant District Attorney P. V. Marino is presenting the state's case while Mrs. Trappin is being defended by William Robinson, Monongahela.

Marino has indicated that the commonwealth will seek a first degree verdict with a life imprisonment penalty.

West Awaiting Official Soviet Reply to Offer

LONDON (UP) — The West waited today for the official Soviet reply to the Western 'final offer" disarmament package plan amid waning hopes that the Kremlin would move to break the stalemate in the London disarmament talks.

Western delegates sought to pin down Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin Tuesday. But Zorin would promise only that he would "discuss the basic questions of disarmament" when the U.N. disarmament subcommittee met today.

The outlook was grim. The next move was up to the Soviets.

The West has laid its disarmament cards on the tables, submitting an 11-point "first step" disarmament proposal. It called for air and ground inspection to guard against surprise attack, a two-year suspension of nuclear tests tied to a ban on the production of fissionable materials and a start toward the reduction of conventional armaments and armed forces.

The Western proposal was put forward at last Thursday's session. It was promptly and angrily denounced by Zorin. But a Soviet spokesman said Zorin's condemnation of the plan was "preliminary" and not the official Russian reply.

Bellmar High Officials Deny 'Hazing Tactics'

Bellmar High School officials today denied that any "rough hazing tactics" are occuring among students.

It was learned, however, that some male students are sporting "hazing haircuts."

"Hazing is not permitted," a school official said. Violators face possible suspension, he added.

Meanwhile, Bellmar school officials announced that effective today no student is permitted to drive a car to school.

"This will be strictly enforced," the official stated.

Police Chief M. E. Anthony said he will turn violators over to school officials.

EYES ON THE FUTURE — The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad was host in Johnson's at noon today to members of City Council and the City Planning Commission at a conference on Monessen's long range community plans. Drill Test Holes for Super Lock, Dam Near Brownsville

A new super lock and dam may be constructed soon on the Monongahela River near Brownsville.

Test holes are now being drilled, indicating that the project is high on the War Department works agenda in the Pittsburgh district.

Only sketchy information has been released concerning the proposed dam. No definite site has been suggested but workmen are drilling test holes in the Maxwell-Denbo area with access from the Washington county side.

M. V. Herrington, chief of the army corps of engineers at Pittsburgh, said earlier that the present river locks at both Brownsville and Rices Landing would be eliminated by the proposed dam.

Rivermen have estimated that the new construction, if approved, would increase the normal river depth in the area from five to six feet.

Lock Inadequate

Lock No. 5 at Brownsville has long been considered inadequate for the heavy tow boat and barge traffic which travels the river. The small lock chambers accommodate only four barges at a time.

This requires a tow boat with the usual complement of six barges in its tow to first tow four barges into one chamber of the lock and then to enter the other lock chamber with the two remaining barges. Thus splitting the tow makes it necessary for the boat to maneuver into position after passing through the lock to reassemble and lash together the complete tow before proceeding.

This is a time consuming operation and three or four boats with their tows are frequently moored at the West Brownsville beach awaiting an opportunity to pass through the locks.

The modern lock now being planned would have one single large chamber sufficiently large

Authority Gives Contract for Big Water Tank

The Authority of the Boro of Charleroi today announced that it has awarded a contract to construct a 340,000-gallon steel storage water tank near the intersection of Pennsylvania Blvd. and Atlantic Dr. in Monessen Park Plan.

The low bid of $35,305 was submitted by the Fisher Tank Co., of Chester, Pa.

The Authority, which supplies water service to Monessen, expects to have the tank in operation by June, 1958.

In a written statement today, the Authority stated:

"Early in the Spring of 1956, the Authority made a survey of this high service area and found that domestic and fire protection service was inadequate during summer months. This was brought about by the intense building development of this area which in turn presented a problem of inadequate water storage. The tank will be completed to. . . eliminate the low volume conditions in this area next summer."

Horse Killed at Death's Crossroads

A horse, owned by Natali Vaira of Elizabeth R. D. 3 was killed at 5 a. m. today when hit by a truck near the intersection of Routes 51 and 31.

The horse, used on a nearby farm, reportedly strayed across the highway into the path of the truck.

No other details of the accident were available.

Beer Prices to Go Up Today In Monessen

A case of beer will cost more in Monessen starting today.

Most distributors will raise the price from 20 to 25 cents a case, depending on the brand. The boost will increase the price for retailers from about $3.10 to $3.30 per case. Home users will pay $3.75 a case, a 25-cent hike.

Most distributors will not raise the price of draft beer and will keep the present price of $14 a half barrel, it was learned.

However, some retailers, in order to absorb the price increase on cases, may up the cost of draft beer or cut down on the sizes of glasses.

In any event, a person will probably pay more for a bottle of beer beginning today.

Negroes to Get Escorts from Federal Officials

BULLETIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — State Adjutant General Sherman Klinger announced today that federal marshals are going to try to take Negro children through National Guard lines at Central High School.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — National Guardsmen, defying a second and explicit order by a federal judge, stopped eight Negroes today from desegrating Central High School.

The troops acted under direct orders from Gov. Orval Faubus. National Guard Col. Marion Johnson said Faubus told him Central High was off limits to Negroes and the Negro high school off-limits to whites.

"Bash her head in!,' "Kill the black s-o-b " voices from a crowd of white onlookers yelled as a 14-year-old Negro girl, turned back by the troops, tried to catch a bus and get away from the campus.

"Go back to New York!" the crowd bellowed as an unidentified white woman stepped forward to befriend the girl, Elizabeth Ford.

The white woman finally got the girl into a bus, despite the efforts of white boys to block the door and keep the bus from pulling away from the stop.

Clergy Chaperone

Five hundred white persons gathered on the sidewalk in front of the school as the eight Negroes—Elizabeth Ford and Perrence Roberts together and a group of six others accompanied by three Negro ministers—tried to break the color line.

The troops were first called out Monday by Gov. Faubus, who ordered them to prevent desegregation of Central High because it might set off a riot between heavily armed whites and Negroes. The troops were armed with tear gas, clubs, pistols and rifles and equipped with half-tracks.

No Negroes tried to register Tuesday, when the school opened. But Tuesday night, U.S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies ordered the school desegregated at once.

He said he would accept Faubus' explanation that the troops were at the school to prevent violence.

The Ford girl and Roberts were the first to walk up to the entrance of Central High today. As they reached the door, an unidentified major ordered, "Close it up" and the door slammed in their faces.

Troops Block Entrance

The six others came up in a group with the three ministers, but were turned back before they got to the entrance by guardsmen drawn up in a line.

Roberts said Little Rock School Superintendent Virgil T. Blossom had told him to try to register, but if he met any resistance to return home.

He said he was "plenty scared" but only of the white persons outside the school.

"I didn't fear the students inside," he said. "I felt that if I

Court to Take Testimony on Turnpike Request

HARRISBURG (UP) — Dauphin County Court today will take testimony on a request by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to have a receiver appointed for the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading.

The receivership is sought pending litigation involving a suit for more than 11 million dollars brought by the toll road agency against Manu-Mine. The commission charges that the bulk of the money was obtained through a fraudulent contract for mine filling work under the Northeastern Extension.

An investigation of the project, which the state contends was "unnecessary work", resulted in the conviction recently of five persons on conspiracy charges.

Acting President Judge William H. Neely said three days have been set aside for testimony and perhaps arguments.

Gamblers Fail to Show for Hearing

None of the 13 men arrested in a gambling raid in West Brownsville Saturday night showed up for a scheduled hearing before Justice of the Peace Alexander Konick, Crescent Heights, yesterday.

Four Funeral Cars in Chain Collision

Four persons were taken t oCharleroi-Monessen Hospital yesterday afternoon when four cars in a funeral procession collided on Monessen-Belle Vernon Road, Route 906.

The reports said a car operated by Mable Rendlemen came upon a car stopped on the highway. A chain reaction mishap resulted.

A car operated by Anna B. White hit the Rendleman vehicle, another driven by Jean Jackson crashed into the rear of the White machine and a fourth operated by

Negro Pupils Reenter Sturgis School Today

STURGIS, Ky. (UP) — All 17 Negro pupils who enrolled at Sturgis High School Tuesday with the backing of a federal court order today re-entered the school through a small, orderly crowd.

The Negro pupils' arrival was marked only by a few shouts from a crowd of about 100 persons, largely school children gathered in front of the school. The Negroes got out of their caravan of four autos and a pickup truck and entered the building without incident.

Maj. Gen. J. J. B. Williams, state adjutant general, said as the Negroes went inside, "I think we might have it beat now. We had this thing whipped last year until the (state) attorney general handed down his order."

State Atty. Gen. Jo M. Ferguson last September issued an opinion stating that the nine Negro students attempting to attend the high school here at that time possibly attended illegally since the Union County School Board had taken no action to end segregated classes.

The Negro pupils' arrival today was in marked contrast to Tuesday, when a large crowd showered their five-car caravan with pebbles and members of the crowd threatened and cursed them.

Today's crowd, composed largely of school children, watched quietly, and the white children entered the school building when the first bell rang.

Williams, who watched Tuesday's disturbance, said he did not think the situation was serious enough to warrant calling out the Kentucky National Guard to maintain order.

He added, however, "The troops are within easy reach who can be brought here in cases of serious trouble."

National Guard troops, under Williams, were stationed here and at nearby Clay, Ky., last year during anti - integration disturbances at the schools. No Negro pupils attempted to enroll at Clay Consolidated school this year.

46 Held As Dope Suspects

NEW YORK (UP) — A federal grand jury today accused 46 men of conspiring to import drugs into this country from Europe in a sealed indictment opened today by Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld.

U. S. Attorney Paul Williams said that Harry Stromberg, better known in the underworld as Nig Rosen, headed the narcotics smuggling syndicate.

The federal prosecutor said this was a "gigantic operation" and that the ring had smuggled 50 pounds of pure heroin into this country with a "street value" of more than three million dollars.

Included are corrupted custom inspectors who are no longer with the service, he said. They were used to make the smuggling of narcotics through the port of New York feasible.

Federal agents have arrested seven in New York, one in Baltimore and one in Washington and are continuing the roundup.

Known Racketeer

Rosen is a well-known racketeer in the New York garment center, Philadelphia and Miami. He is 54. In March, 1954, federal agents seized prepared opium in one of his apartments. This was the largest seizure of opium ever made by agents.

The indictment also named 16 co-conspirators who are not defendants but who could be government witnesses at the trial.

The drugs were distributed in New York, Washington, D.C., Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, California, Massachusetts and other states.

"This is a gigantic international operation which has been under investigation for many months," Williams said. The indictment had been returned by the jury on Aug. 27 and had been kept sealed so that government agents could begin their roundup of those named.

The indictment charges that one of the defendants, described only as Jean Aron, had made out a check in January, 1951, for $1,500 payable to "cash" with a notation "customs" on the check stub.

Another defendant, Saul Geld, was accused by the jury of selling one half a kilogram of heroin for $5,000 to one Alfred Benza in December 1953.

The indictment accuses Geld of being in possession of more than 66 ounces of heroin and about 48 ounces of opium suitable for smoking and some 65 ounces of opium dross.

Three Crewmen Bruised, Cut In Hailstorm

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP) — A B55 jet making a simulated bombing run exploded six miles up Tuesday night and its three crewmen ejected themselves into the midst of a driving hailstorm.

All three reached ground alive, but an Air Force spokesman said their faces looked as if they had been "plastered with buckshot" in the hail. All were injured.

The $2,700,000 plane, from Elgin Air Force Base, Fla., crashed and burned, setting fire to a nearby oil tank south of Houston. The fire was rapidly extinguished.

The pilot, 1st Lt. David E. Moore, DeKalb, Ill., suffered a broken leg; the gunner, Sgt. Robert J. Hewlen, Apple Springs, N.Y. a broken arm, and Capt. Arthur J. Manzo, (address unavailable), suffered head injuries when the No. 2 engine exploded.

All were badly bruised and cut by the hail. Hewlen said after passing through the hail, they floated into a rainstorm. "It was cold as hell up there," he said, when they bailed out.

The Air Force said it was about 15 degrees below zero at 30,000 feet, where the crew parachuted. All were wearing light flight clothing.

Plane with 81 Aboard Lands In Emergency

SCRANTON, Pa. (UP) — An Air Force plane carrying 81 paratroopers made an emergency landing at the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre Airport Tuesday when it developed engine trouble.

Capt. James Powell of Clinton, N. C., the pilot of the C124 Globemaster, said he was flying at about 10,000 feet when mechanical trouble developed in one of the four engines.

He said the engine developed a runaway propeller" and he had to shut it off. Emergency equipment including a fire truck and two rescue trucks stood by at the field as the giant plane made its successful landing.

The plane from the Donaldson Air Force Base, S. C., was flying members of "B" Company 501st Battallion from West Point, N.Y., to Fort Bragg, N. C.

STRICKEN WITH POLIO IN KOREA — Disabled by polio while serving in Korea, Airman 2-c Donald E. Miller, 20, of Racine, O. (in an iron lung), is loaded aboard a MATS transport at Tachikawa Air Base, Japan, for a flight to Haneda and on to the United States for treatment.

Two Soldiers Crash Turnpike Interchange

TRENTON, N. J. (UP) — Two soldiers from Fort Dix, N. J., early today crashed two Pennsylvania Turnpike Interchanges to avoid paying tolls, but were captured an hour later here when they attempted to duck a $5 gasoline bill.

Police fired six shots before the fleeing GI's halted their automobile and surrendered. Three bullets struck the vehicle.

Authorities said they believe three other soldiers were in the auto when it ran the Turnpike interchanges without paying tolls.

The captured soldiers were identified as Pvts. Rex Edward Young, of Stockton, Calif., and George C. Chernak, of Alameda, Calif. Both are 20 years old.

Pennsylvania State Trooper Warren Birchall, 33, of Philadelphia, was slightly injured by splintering wood when the fleeing auto plowed through a toll booth gate on a bridge connecting the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Turnpikes near Florence, N. J. The bridge spans the Delaware River.

Birchall was treated at Lower Bucks County Hospital in Bristol, Pa. and released.

Pennsylvania State Trooper Joseph Zuber said the auto sped through the superhighway's Philadelphia interchange seven miles west of the turnpike-connecting bridge.

Zuber said the vehicle was going at a "high rate of speed."

Pennsylvania and New Jersey state police and municipal authorities over a wide area were alerted to watch for the auto.

The soldiers, according to police in Trenton, N. J. ordered five dollars worth of gasoline at a station but fled when an attendant asked for the money.

Police chased the two along an avenue, firing six shots before the GI's surrendered.

Young and Chernak told police they borrowed the auto from a "friend" at Fort Dix and went on a wine-drinking spree. They ran out of money enroute back to camp and decided to try beating the toll payments.

New Castle Men To Face Action On Libel Charge

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (UP)—Seven New Castle men were ordered on Tuesday to face grand jury action on charges they libeled candidates in last May's primary elections.

An eighth defendant, a woman, was being sought by state police.

Bound over by Alderman C. E. Anderson were Edward E. Tucker, Ben Ciccone, Frank Acquaviva, Samuel F. Ascione, Patsy Dando, Adolph DiGennaro and Frank Natale.

Sally Saunders, named as a conspirator in the alleged libel, was a fugitive and was believed to have fled the state.

Tucker, indicted on six counts of criminal libel and conspiracy, was ordered to post $6,000 bond. The others were released on $4,000 bond.

State Deputy Atty. Gen. Frank P. Lawley Jr. introduced signed invoices from the Kopple Printing Co., of Kopple, Beaver County, to show Acquaviva placed the orders for 12,000 copies of "They Stand Accused" and 5,000 copies of "Johnny's Lying." The state has claimed the publications libeled Republican and Democratic candidates in the Lawrence County primaries.

State Police Sgt. Harold G. Rice testified all the defendants were observed distributing copies of the two publications.

Turnpike Board Rejects Offer

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission has rejected a $66,000 bid for its former headquarters in downtown Harrisburg.

The commission unanimously directed that a $15,000 certified check submitted by Frank C. Foose, Harrisburg realtor, who offered the $66,000, be returned.

The agency was told by its legal staff that hotel owner Leon Jacobs had "orally offered" $80,000 cash "or $100,000 in turnpike bonds" for the four-story building which the commission abandoned when it moved to its new administration headquarters at the Highspire Interchange.

Eisenhowers Land at Rhode Island Retreat

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower landed at the Quonset Point Naval Air Station at 11:29 a.m. e.d.t. today to begin their long-delayed Rhode Island vacation.

Skies were overcast as the presidential plane, Columbine III touched down at Quonset.

Rhode Island Gov. Dennis J. Roberts led a welcoming party of medal-bedecked Naval officers, including Rear Adm. L. K. Rice, fleet air commander, and base commander Capt. Burdette E. Close.

Following the brief reception, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower boarded the presidential cabin cruiser "Barbara Anne" for the 50-minute cruise across Narragansett Bay to this resort city.

Navigating across the bay in the Presidential yacht, "Barbara Anne," was eased by the departure Tuesday of three aircraft carriers from Quonset and some 50 destroyers from Newport. The yacht, her brass and canvas-shrouded decks gleaming, has made several trial runs.

Mrs. Eisenhower, still convalescing from her recent operation, will disembark at the summer White House on Coaster's Harbor Island. The President will continue to Government Landing and join a motorcade for the short drive to the old Colony House at Washington Square in the heart of the city.

There on a platform beneath the balcony where George Washington welcomed Rochambeau and his 7,000-man French expeditionary force aiding in the revolution, dignitaries will welcome the President to Newport.

Expected to head up the list of some 200 dignitaries on the stand are Sens. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.), John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), and Reps. Joseph Martin (R-Mass.), Aime J. Ferand (D-R.I.), John E. Fogarty (D-R.I.), and Mayor John J. Sullivan.

After the brief ceremony, the President will be driven to Coaster's Harbor Island, a one-time pauper's asylum now occupied by headquarters of the mammoth Newport Naval Base and the Naval War College.

At the base, Eisenhower will be "piped aboard" through eight side boys in a colorful, traditional naval ceremony.

Weather permitting, the President is expected to test the tough Newport Country Club course for the first time this afternoon.

once got inside, they would accept me."

About 15 troops — half the number who were about the building Tuesday — remained all night. At 7 a.m., today, reinforcements arrived and when school opened, there were again 50 troops at the school.

Students, with their aprents and other persons — all told about 100 persons — gathered on the other side of the street opposite the school.

Some Threaten Boycott

Some white students said that if Negroes were allowed in the school, they would refuse to attend.

After the guardsmen turned the eight Negroes back, the crowd in front of the building broke up and the 1,800 white students at the school reported to their classes.

Meanwhile, halftracks were still stationed at the corners of the school grounds and guardsmen paced entrances to the school. They carry carbines and sidearms, none of which are loaded.

However, live ammunition is in their belts.

The Arkansas Gazette said it made a check of all Little Rock stores selling guns and knives. The newspaper said dealers reported no unusual increase in the sale of possible weapons. Faubus, in his television speech Monday night, said reports of large sales of knives and guns were a large factor in placing the troops at Central High.

The Gazette quoted Little Rock Police Chief Marvin H. Pott as saying his men had taken no pistols from students and "We haven't seen any caravans, either." Faubus said he had "undeniable reports" of motor caravans convering on Little Rock to assemble on the school grounds.

Show Cause Order

Davies ordered school Superintendent Virgil Blossom and three members of the school board to show cause why Central High had not been integrated according to the gradual plan which was to have gone into action Tuesday.

The board said it is ready to follow the court's suggestions. After the ruling, Blossom said "the integration order of the federal court is in full effect."

Faubus said he will have to decide whether to use the troops to protect Negro children entering the school. He added he still thinks he will be protectingt he Negroes by keeping them out of school.

Highway patrol director Herman Lindsey said five Negroes, two of them ex-convicts and the other three from California, attempted to move into the school grounds area but were stopped.

Sentenced to Prison Term

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—William J. Marisetti, 31, of 1209 Sixth St., North Bergen, N.J., was sentenced Tuesday to three to six years in prison for forgery and larceny.

Penalty was imposed in Westmoreland County Court by Judge David Weiss after the defendant admitted forging checks for $277 last year. He also admitted stealing $120 and an automobile from the steward of a New Stanton club where he was employed.

Marisetti was arrested here on the bad check charges in March, 1956, but was turned over to New Jersey authorities for prosecution on a previous charge. He was returned here last February after his release from a New Jersey jail.

Government statisticians have prepared data showing that the new super lock would be far more economical in operation than the present outmoded structures.

U. S. in New Moves To Help the Mideast

WASHINGTON (UP)—U.S. officials said today decisions on possible new moves to aid anti-Communist nations in the Middle East may be in the works.

However, they said one of the decisions won't be for the United States to take the final plunge of full membership in the five-nation Baghdad Pact despite new Turkish pressure to get the United States to sign up.

The officials said the decisions may grow out of important meetings to be held here during the next few days.

Loy W. Henderson, the State Department's ace Middle Eastern trouble shooter, was scheduled to return to Washington today from a Middle Eastern fact-finding mission prompted by Syria's sudden pro-Soviet shift. Henderson will report his findings to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other top level American officials.

Henderson has been conferring with leaders in Turkey, Jordan, Iraq, and Lebanon on possible ways to slow down Syria's Communist trend. He left Syria and Egypt off of his Middle Eastern itinerary choosing instead to talk with Syria's neighbors.

A likely outcome of the American policy review set off by Syria's pro-Soviet maneuvering is some new expression of American cooperation and support for Middle Eastern nations willing to maintain their independence against subversion or aggression.

Turkey has raised anew the possibility of the United States formally signing up as a full member of the Baghdad pact. The United States so far has avoided full membership in the pact with Turkey, Iraq, Pakistan, Iran and Britain.

The United States is practically a member, participating in the pact's military, economic and anti-subversion planning activities. The United States also is pouring large amounts of military and economic aid into Middle Eastern states opposing Communism.

Fayette Woman Pleads Guilty

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)—Mrs. Helen Hatcher, accused of killing a Uniontown man with an old Spanish revolver, pleaded guilty today to a general charge of murder.

Fayette County Judge Eustace H. Bane set Sept. 26 for a hearing to determine the degree of guilt.

Mrs. Hatcher, 46, of Oliphant, Pa., said she shot the victim, Elliott Chandler, when he entered her home against her wishes last July 6. She said she did not know she had hit him until he was found wounded in her back yard.

Chandler died of his wound a week later.

More Hearings Open into Gas Rate Increase

HARRISBURG (UP) — Another round of hearings opened today on a proposed $6,479,000 annual natural gas rate increase sought by Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Pittsburgh.

Four company witnesses returned to the stand to give additional information requested by the Public Utility Commission.

The witnesses included Malcolm F. Orton, a public utility consultant; Morton Lewis, assistant treasurer of the Columbia Gas System, and Manufacturers' vice president, Charles E. Massa and the firm's rate analyst, Philip D'Agostino.

Earlier testimony in support of the proposed rate increase was completed last July 31 after a series of five hearings which began May 12. Manufacturers contends it is forced to pay more for gas purchased from pipeline suppliers because of the recent rate increase granted those wholesalers by the Federal Power Commission.

The protestants include the cities of Pittsburgh, Washington, Pa., New Castle and Bradford, who were expected to present their cases against the proposal.

The proposed rates would affect 247,000 customers in 25 southwest and western Pennsylvania counties. Manufacturers said the new tariff would add about 74 cents monthly to gas bills of consumers who use gas for cooking, water heating and refrigeration. Heating customers would pay about $1.90 more each month, the firm said.

Stars Deny Stories

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Scandal-smeared movie stars today pleaded for a chance to follow actress Maureen O'Hara and singer Dorothy Dandridge in denying on the witness stand spicy tidbits printed about them in Confidential magazine.

The prosecution Tuesday turned the Confidential criminal libel trial into a stellar attraction by putting Irish - tempered Miss O'Hara and Miss Dandridge, a negro stage-screen star, on the witness stand. Miss O'Hara angrily denied cuddling in a theater with a "Latin lover" and Miss Dandridge was just as angry in denying she made love in the woods with a bandleader.

It marked the first time in nearly five weeks of testimony that big name personalities had been called upon to testify. The two celebrities' testimony was hailed as a victory for the entertainment industry in its fight against the so-called scadal magazines.

Prosecutor William Ritzi said he could produce more "first - hand" evidence that Confidential and Whisper magazines created lies to sensationalize stories.

However, Ritzi indicated that there would be no need to call additional eager big name volunteers. He said Miss O'Hara and Miss Dandridge testified as rebuttal witnesses because the defense went out of its way in an attempt to establish lurid stories about them were true.

New Evidence Found in Murder of Nick Miller

Witness Claims Miller Was in Ohio, Aug. 18

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Detectives investigating the death of Wheeling gambler Nick Miller, whose body was found in the trunk of his automobile in suburban Wilkinsburg, said today new evidence indicating he may have been slain elsewhere has been uncovered.

Wheeling police informed Allegheny County detectives that a witness has been found who reports seeking Miller in Blaine, Ohio, between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 18.

Previously investigators had been unable to account for the activities of Miller after 11 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 17, when he was last seen in Wheeling. His car was next believed seen in Wilkinsburg after 9 p.m. Aug. 18. His decomposed body was found Aug. 22.

Allegheny County Detective Chief Henry Pieper said the report from the Wheeling police tended to support the theory Miller was slain somewhere outside the county.

Knew Miller, Car

Wheeling police said the witness who reported seeing Miller in Ohio seemed creditable. He placed the time by recalling a television program. The witness, police, said, had good reason to know both Miller and his car.

Wheeling Police Chief William J. Thomas said the report placed Miller driving west on Route 40 in the direction of Columbus. Pieper, theorized the gambler might have been headed to Mt. Vernon, Ohio, to visit Mrs. Ruby Harrington, 25, with whom he had spent the previous Friday night and whom he had telephoned the day before.

Piper said he was inclined to discount a report from a Wilkinsburg woman that members of her family had seen the Miller car there about 4 p.m. Aug. 18. He said he believed the woman was mistaken as to the date.

Low River no Threat To City Water Supply

The receding Monongahela River poses no immediate threat to Monessen's water supply, it was reported today.

However a spokesman for the Authority of the Borough of Charleroi said the summer - long drought has forced a change in processing methods.

"When the river is low, we are required to change our processing somewhat because of the taste factor," explained C. A. Darby, manager of the Authority's Monessen office.

"At the moment, the water supply is holding out," Darby said. "The drought is a nuisance to us right now rather than a serious threat."

However Darby said it will be a different story if the drought continues through the rest of the year.

At Lowest Level

"Enough water has been released from dams to keep the Monongahela River navigable in recent weeks," Darby said. "We've been informed that this supply will last until mid-December. After that we'll be in real trouble unless the drought is broken."

Because of the extensive system of flood control dams in the upper Monongahela River, it is possible to keep the river pool at a fairly normal stage.

But the river is now at its lowest level since the dams were installed. Just enough water is being fed to permit boats to travel the busy waterway.

Darby pointed out that the water taken from the river is constantly being tested at the Authority's processing installation in Charleroi.

"When the river is high, there is far more diffusion," Darby explained. "When it is low — as it is now — we must alter our treatment process to insure purity and a better taste."

Executive Board Of Holy Name Society Meets

The executive board of the Holy Name Society of St. Cajetan Church met last night in the church basement to discuss various future activities.

Joe Bafile reported that the family corn roast held in August at City Park for all parish members was very successful.

Armand Niccolai and Roy DeRocco were named to plan a trip to Pittsburgh on Sept. 29. The men will see the Pittsburgh Steeler-Washington Redskin football game.

Members of the society will receive communion at the 9:15 mass on Sunday morning and have a business meeting following i the business meeting following in the church hall. Any men of the church interested may attend.

The Rotary Club for many years has sponsored a 4-H capon-raising project and annually stages a "roundup" dinner for 4-H families.

Following a picnic supper served in the basement of the Grange hall, the 4-H Club held a regular meeting with the Rotary families as spectators.

With President Eleanor Stark in the chair, the members one by one made reports concerning their current individual projects.

Pictures taken on a trip which Miss Stark took last year to the convention of the American Institute of Cooperatives in Raleigh, N. C., were shown.

President William H. Pore of Rotary presented the 4-H Club with a check for $25 to be used in club activities.

Following the program square dancing was enjoyed with Chauncey Lang, a member of the extension staff of Penn State University, actig as instructor and caller.

Latrobe Man Is Kiwanis Governor

Harry E. Good of Latrobe won the nomination for Kiwanis District Governor of District 8 to succeed W. R. H. Patterson of Monessen, at a meeting of the local Kiwanis Club, held last night at the Slovak Home.

The meeting was attended by two representatives of each club of the district as well as the local members. Patterson presided at the business session held for the purpose of choosing the nominee for governor.

President Charles Penwick presided at the dinner session and invocation was by Kenneth Mahan.

Just Didn't Like Looks of Five Garages

MEDIA, Pa. (UP) —An interior decorator and bulldozer operator were held on charges of malicious mischief today after they allegedly knocked down five garages which the interior decorator felt were an eyesore.

State trooper Earl Glasser revealed today that officials of the Concord Food Inc., of nearby Concordville, last Thursday reported the disappearance of five garages on their property.

Glasser said his investigation disclosed that Donald Baeshore, around 40 years old, the interior decorator whose property adjoined the five garages, and the bulldozer operator, Charles Bennett, 31, had been on a drinkin gbout on Aug. 23.

Baeshore complained about the garages, three of which held equipment valued at $5,000 by the food company, a mushroom canning firm, and two which were used to park private automobiles.

The two commandeered a bulldozer belonging to a local contractor and knocked down all five garages, pushed them into a ravine and buried them under five tons of dirt.

The wooden, one-story structures were located about 100 feet from the company's main building and the loss was not discovered until five days later.

When Bennett was arrested today, police said he admitted operating the bulldozer, but said Baeshore told he had permission to get rid of the structures.

Senate Probers Take Breather; Plan Activity

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate investigators today welcomed a brief breather while planning plenty of activity for the Fall.

Most senators rushed out of town last week when Congress adjourned. But their committee staffs could count on little more than a temporary respite in Congress' almost continuous round of legislative hearings and investigations.

At least a half dozen Senate hearings of one sort or another are already planned for the next four months. Others will be announced later as arrangements are completed.

The House has scheduled at least 35 inquiries throughout the world between now and Jan. 1.

The biggest current investigation on Capitol Hill, the Senate Rackets Committee's investigation of union - management, is planning to resume hearings next month although no definite dates have been set.

Another round - the - year number, the Senate internal security subcommittee, may hold a hearing in October. And the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, which has been looking into steel price increases and also activities of the big oil companies probably will start public hearings again the first of next month.

Fayette City Burgess, Wife Begin Goodwill Trip to France

An all-expense paid "trip we never dreamed could happen" began today for Burgess and Mrs. Howard Opfar of Fayette City — thanks to the government of France.

The trip, which began this morning at 9 o'clock when the Opfars left for the French embassy in Washington, D. C., will take the couple to practically every major city in France. The French government will pay all expenses, including plane fare, lodging, meals and sight-seeing tours.

This goodwill gesture by the French is being made because Fayette City was named after Lafayette, outstanding French patriot who fought in the American Revolution. This year the French are celebrating the 200th birthday of Lafayette. Heads of 43 other U. S. communities named after Lafayette have also been invited.

The invitation to the Opfars said in part:

Leave by Plane

"In 1957 France and the United States will celebrate the bicentenary of Lafayette. We Frenchmen will faithfully observe this occasion. We are proud to do so. What a splendid gesture it was, in 1776, that a young man of noble birth . . .should decide to cross the seas and fight for the liberty of America."

The trip for the Opfars began this morning when they left their home at 111 Connellsville St. for the Greater Pittsburgh Airport and a plane to Washington.

Tonight they will attend a reception at the French Embassy before leaving by chartered plane for a 30-hour trip to Paris. Thursday evening they will attend a formal reception sponsored by the Lafayette Bi-centennial Committee. On Friday morning they will travel to Vichy and then go by bus to Coupierre for lunch. In the afternoon they will take an excursion to the Castle of Vollore where they will be received by the Count and Countess de Pusy Lafayette.

To Visit Chateau

Then the trip takes to them Ambert to visit the chateau de Champetieres, the ancestral castle of the Motier Lafayette family. They will also visit Chaise-Dieu Abbey. When they arrive at Haute Loire they will attend a reception given by the civil governor.

Saturday will be their busiest day, starting off by visiting the Castle of Chavaniec — Lafayette's birthplace. They will attend a luncheon on the castle lawn and then leave for Saint George d' Auriac where they will be received by the mayor. Following a visit to monuments erected in Lafayette's memory, they will rest in a hotel at Clermont Ferrand until another formal reception and dinner given by the mayor that night.

From Sunday until Thursday they will be kept busy visiting numerous cities, castles and chateaux. They will arrive back in Paris Thursday night to be guests of the president of France, president of Paris and United States ambassador at a reception at the Elysee Palace.

Second Trip

Following this whirlwind tour in connection with the bi-centennial, the Opfars will continue their stay in France for several days before returning home by boat.

This will be Mrs. Opfar's first trip to the Continent and her husband's second.

It will bring back memories for the neighboring burgess. He served in France during World War 1 with the 111th Regiment of the 28th Infantry Division.

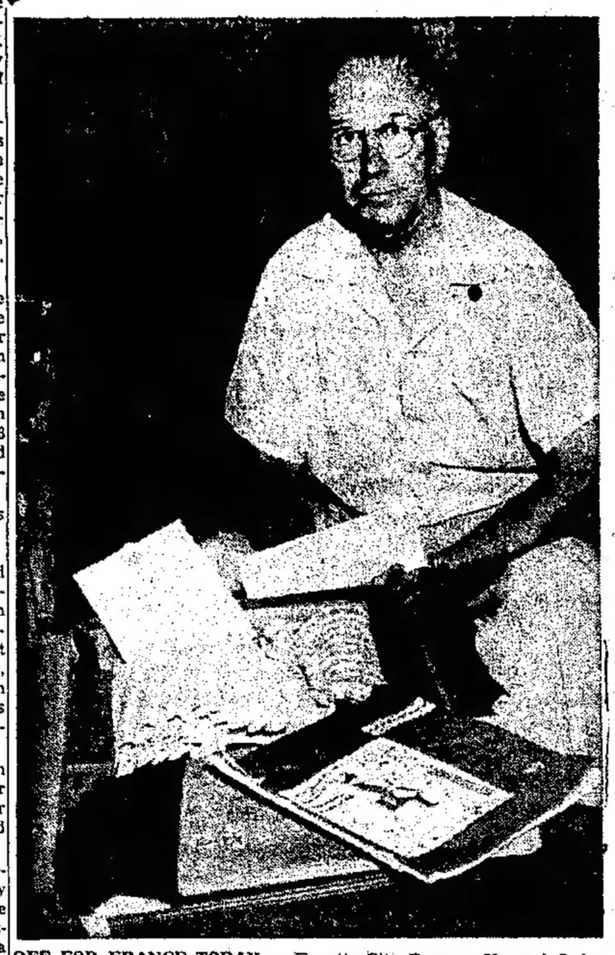
He said that when he was lying sure to visit will be Argonne Forest, where he was wounded in the knee by a German rifle. He plans to visit other famous battlefield's of World War 1.

He said that hwen he was lying on a cot in a hospital near Argonne Forest "I never thought I'd ever come back to France. Now I am looking forward to it. So is my wife. She's really excited.

"We just thought that something like this could never happen to us," he said gleefully.

A retired barber, Opfar is a policeman at the Allenport plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co.

"It's going to be hard getting back into the grind of things after spending these days living like a king," he remarked.



OFF FOR FRANCE TODAY — Fayette City Burgess Howard Opfar and his wife left this morning on a trip that will take them to practically every large city in France. The burgess completed his packing yesterday.

Fayette Parents Win Fight for Schools

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. (UP)—Parents of Luzerne Twp. school children have won their fight to block the closing of two elementary school buildings.

The township school board president, John McMahon, bowed to the protests of the parents, who resorted to picket lines and even set up an outdoor classroom, and switched his vote at a meeting Tuesday night. McMahon's vote carried a motion to re-open the Thompson No. 2 and Millboro Schools, 4-3.

About 60 parents who attended the meeting cheered the action. Several mothers kissed the school board president after he cast his vote. Tears filled the eyes of several parents.

In another reversal, the board voted to rehire George Alberts, former supervising principal who was dropped in June, 1956, and his position abolished. Alberts had brought legal action to force his reinstatement. The Fayette County was preparing an appeal to the state Supreme Court. The decision to rehire him also was by a 4-3 vote.

The school board had decided to close the two schools for reasons of economy. The Thompson pupils were to be transferred to the Central School at Tower Hill and the East Millsboro children to Isabella, five miles away.

The parents had picketed the schools since last week. Mothers of the East Millsboro pupils blockaded roads to prevent a school bus from carrying their children to the Isabella school.

At Thompson parents set up an outdoor school Tuesday with about 75 children in attendance. The children were enrolled formally. One of the parents read the required Bible text and conducted the pledge of allegiance to the flag. The pupils then were sent home.

Labor Movement Facing Realities

THE LABOR DAY statement of President George Meany of the AFL-CIO on the subject of corruption in the labor movement leaves little to be desired from the standpoint of forthrightness.

"We can and we will," said Mr. Meany to a nation-wide audience, "expel from our ranks organizations that are found by public investigatory bodies to be substantially influenced in the conduct of their affairs by corrupt elements or individuals.

"So far as we are concerned, there is no room in the labor movement for those who betray their trust, for those who embezzle union funds for their personal enrichment, for those who make common cause with gangsters and racketeers, for those whose shameful misdeeds serve to bring the entire trade union movement into disrepute."

There is no reason to doubt the sincerity behind those words. Everything we know about Mr. Meany and about his record as a union official suggests that he means every word of what he said.

But the movement in general and the AFL-CIO in particular are up against some hard realities, in addition to some ethical theories, and it is a little difficult to see, at this writing, just how far Mr. Meany and his associates can or will go to give his Labor Day pledge real meaning.

* * *

THE CASE in point, of course, is the Teamsters Union. The Senate hearings have demonstrated beyond reasonable doubt, we believe almost everybody agrees, that the Teamsters Union is "substantially influenced" by "corrupt elements or individuals".

The president of the Teamsters, Dave Beck, is under threat of expulsion from the AFL-CIO. He has decided not to seek reelection, and he is under federal indictment for serious charges.

So far, so good.

But if this has in any way improved the prospects for better management of the Teamsters Union in the future, the evidence is invisible.

Instead, we have the distinct impression that the Teamsters Union, members as well as leaders, do not care particularly one way or the other what Mr. Meany says or whether they are affiliated with the AFL-CIO at all.

In all likelihood, when the Teamsters meet in annual convention at Miami Beach later this month, there is a definite prospect that Dave Beck will be replaced by James Hoffa. And if Mr. Meany can read the record of the Senate investigation and draw any comfort from the prospect, he is an optimist for sure.

Where all this is heading, we don't know. But we know this: corruption of the kind practiced in the Teamsters Union is not going to be rooted out by the vigorous statements of honorable men. It is going to take something more than that.

New Laws Guard Public Interest

PENNSYLVANIA'S new "right to know" laws have gone into effect, and depending on the degree to which public officials act in accordance with the legislautre's purpose, the laws should make a positive contribution to more and better public information.

In brief, these two companion laws are intended to require public bodies, with a few specific exceptions, to transact their business in public meetings and to keep public records available for public inspection.

By and large and with respect to most public agencies, these laws will require no very dramatic changes. In this immediate locality, we're glad to say, it has been some years since we have encountered any flagrant attempt to conceal information to which the public was entitled. Except for isolated instances, some of which could be attributed to misunderstandings rather than to deliberate efforts to conceal, local public bodies have conducted their affairs in the spirit of the new laws.

Unfortunately, this has not been the case everywhere in Pennsylvania. In several localities municipal councils, school boards and similar bodies have been making calculated efforts to hide their actions. The "right to know" laws, of course, will require immediate changes of policy in these cases.

It seems to us, however, that a wise public official will not need a law to guide him in such measures. If he is convinced of the correctness of what he is doing, he will have no trouble understanding that public confidence in him and his efforts can be of great value. And such confidence can arise only where there is complete information.

We hope honest and diligent public officials will go even beyond the letter of these laws and actively seek fuller public understanding of their actions. Those who do, we feel sure, will be strengthened greatly in their public service.

As for those officials who are not so honest and not so diligent, these laws will make it easier for their laxity to be exposed and corrected.

Merry-Go-Round—

Loan Racket Flourishes in Miami Beach

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is touring the Mediterranean, his column is written by his junior partner.)

By JACK ANDERSON

MIAMI BEACH — Biggest Racket in Miami Beach today is an under-the-table loan business financed by the underworld.

The borrower can get all the cash he wants without red tape. But he mortgages his health; if he misses his payments, he can expect a brutal beating. The interest rates, too, are steep: up to 20 per cent a week.

Chief Shylock is Joe Milstein, transplanted New York Racketeer, who runs a dive called Joe's Bar as a front, but loans mobster money out of a plush, red-trimmed back office.

Milstein also practices blackmail on the side. He is now trying to shake down a Georgia Theater owner in one of the weirdest blackmail plots ever cooked up.

Underworld sources claim Milstein is bankrolled by New York's racket boss, Vincent Alo, alias "Jimmy Blue Eyes." But Milstein is also known to have financial ties with a California Racketeer, Julius "Joe" Bloom.

The Russian-born Milstein has a police record in New York City dating back to 1916. His crony in crime was Isadore "Izzy the Eel" Rapport until they were arrested for grand larceny in 1946. A record of Milstein's phone calls indicates he is on speaking terms with the nation's most notorious gangsters.

Sucker List

Lesser loan sharks also handle racket money in the Miami area. This column can supply police with their addresses: barbershops, liquor stores, and other fronts. But the acknowledged kingpin of them all is bald, brittle Joe Milstein.

His sucker list is made up mostly of small businessmen who can't negotiate legitimate loans but are anxious to invest in the Miami boom. One witness swears he was present, however, when Milstein counted out $100,000 for a big borrower.

Hard-up hoods also come to Milstein for a stake — at the usual interest rates. One recent customer is Johnny Dio, the tight-lipped racketeer who refused to testify about his connections with Teamster Vice President Jimmy Hoffa. Johnny and his brother Frankie reportedly are paying off Milstein at the rate of $1,800 a month.

Bob Finestein, who lost money operating ex-heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano's Miami Beach restaurant, admitted to this column that he had borrowed from Milstein. Finestein denied a report, however, that he had been beaten up in Las Vegas and Beverly Hills when he tried to run out on a debt.

"Mr. Milstein is a fine gentleman," Finestein said.

Blackmail Plot

One who wouldn't agree is a Georgia theater owner who dated Milstein's girl friend, shapely Pat Nealey, not long ago. Milstein checked the Georgian's Dunn and Bradstreet rating, then threatened to sue him for alienation of affections.

The threatened lawsuit was only a cloak for as ingenious a shakedown as ever has been attempted. First, Milstein had the Georgian thoroughly investigated and got a report on him a quarter-inch thick. Then Milstein paid a professional artist to draw a grotesque painting of the Georgian's family tree.

It shows a dead tree trunk with satanic ears. Protruding from the trunk is a limb with a vile-looking rat perched on the end. The Georgian's name is printed on the rat. Also in the picture are the dead bodies of two girls who were killed in an airplane accident in which the Georgian's father was involved.

Milstein mailed the macabre drawing to the theater owner and threatened to plaster copies all over his home town. Milstein also harassed him with telephone calls, threatening nasty publicity.

Wants $250,000

The racketeer, now married to Pat Nealey, claimed the theater man had broken up his marriage. What Milstein didn't mention was that he had neglected to marry the girl until after her date with the Georgian.

The theater owner's Florida attorney, George Leaird, confirmed to this column full details of the shakedown attempt. In fact, Milstein repeated his threats in a private conference with Leaird.

Except for guarded hints, Milstein hasn't yet asked for money. He declared in front of other witnesses, however, that he hoped to take the Georgian for $250,000.

It's a Fact—

Certain stars are called "fixed stars" even though it is known that all stars move. The fixed stars are so far away that their motions are apparent only over long periods or when measured by very accurate instruments.

Whales cannot move their eyes. The nerves of whales are stiff as a poker.

Today and Tomorrow—

Political Changes Foreseen

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In the Wisconsin election last week the winner, Senator Proxmire, ran strongly both in the cities and in the rural counties. There is nothing unusual about a Democrat doing well in the cities, when he has, as Mr. Proxmire did, the full support of organized labor. But what happened in the rural counties, which are traditionally Republican?

Mr. Lippmann

Two things seem to have happened. There was, on the one hand, a protest vote by farmers, small businessmen and labor against the Eisenhower policies which affect them. And, on the other hand, the local Republican machine, controlled by the McCarthy wing of the party, seemed to have refused to work for Governor Kohler, who was running as an Eisenhower Republican. Thus both ends were against the Eisenhower candidate in the middle. The left wing was against him because the administration policies have not done enough for the farmers and the small businessmen. The right wing was against him because Eisenhower is by its standard an obnoxious progressive.

Party Control Vital

Logically, this does not make any sense — that the Republican machines should connive at the election of a full-blooded Democrat, preferring him to a middle-of-the-road Republican. But the explanation is not difficult. Professional politicians are primarily interested in securing and retaining the control of their own party organizations. They will always prefer to lose an election if they can retain their control rather than to win an election and lose their control.

It is too early to say whether the Wisconsin election is a pattern of the shape of things to come. But it does show that there is a serious struggle for control within the Republican Party, and that there are powerful professional Republican politicians who would be quite prepared to lose the elections of 1958 and of 1960 if they could recover what they lost in 1952 — their control of the Republican Party. It is already reasonably plain that President Eisenhower has not been able to unite and to lead his party, and that the struggle for control will become sharper and sharper.

It is an interesting question, to which no one now knows the answer, whether Vice President Nixon can do what the President is unable to do. We may suppose that he will not be able to unite and to lead the party if the professional politicians make up their minds that it is in their vital interests to take over the party, and that the price of doing that is to lose the next election respectively with Senator Knowland as their candidate.

However, all political speculation now is, however, tempting, subject to the heaviest kind of discount. For it does not reckon with what is likely to happen in the next two years both at home and abroad. Yet there are unmistakable signs of trouble ahead, and that by 1958 and 1960 the existing complacency and tranquility of public opinion will be much disturbed.

Foreig Policy to Change

Thus, it is most unlikely that our foreign policy can now be stabilized on the Dulles pacts, the Eisenhower doctrine, the Eisenhower level of military expenditure, and at the present level of foreign aid. The Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy is due for an agonizing reappraisal, and what this will mean in terms of voters no man can say.

It is also unlikely that the prosperity, which the country has enjoyed so much, can be stabilized, much less advanced, without first passing through a period of recession, of increased unemployment, and a measure at least of financial hardship. The fact of the matter is that there is a serious inflation. It is said to be the steepest in our history in time of peace. We do not know whether the orthodox measures being used by the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board to combat it will in fact work.

We do not know, for example, whether the credit and budgetary measures which were strong enough to arrest the inflationary rise of prices would also mean much more unemployment than Congress and the people will tolerate. We do not know whether full employment can be maintained without a continual inflation. Within that grave but unsolved problem, there is wrapped up much of our political future.

From Washington—

Wisconsin Shows Democrats on March

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Wha does Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn mean when he describes the Democratic senatorial victory in Wisconsin as a "grim lesson?"

Is it as grim as all that? Does this mean that Republican chances of regaining Congress now are about as thin as the chances of the cellar-dwelling Washington Senators — baseball, that is — winning the pennant?

Mr. Drummond

Mr. Alcorn is being candid and clear-headed. As the chairman of the Republican National Committee, he is not being gloomy; he is just being realistic. It means that at the top at least the Republican Party will face the facts of the Wisconsin vote and not try to push them under the rug. To do otherwise Mr. Alcorn would not be misleading others; he would be misleading himself.

Any attempt to explain away William Proxmire's run-away defeat of former Gov. Walter J. Kohler to fill the late Joseph R. McCarthy's Senate seat as an isolated upset, as a fluke, as resulting only from division within Republican ranks and from dissatisfied, stay-at-home Republican non-voters, covers up its real meaning.

Outcome Unexpected

Most Wisconsin politicians and political correspondents expected Mr. Kohler to win because Mr. Proxmire had lost every statewide election in which he had previously run and because Mr. Kohler had twice defeated him for the governorship. In this sense the Proxmire victory was an upset of prediction, and it was an upset of Wisconsin voting patterns since the state had not sent a Democratic senator to Washington in 25 years.

But it was not an upset of the national voting pattern which has prevailed in just about every congressional election since 1946. It was in keeping with the evidence of virtually unbroken Democratic strength ever since President Truman successfully ran against the Republican Congress in 1948.

The political fact with which the Democratic success in Wisconsin needs to be put is this: The Republican Party as a party has won a national popular majority vote only twice in the last 14 congressional elections — in 1928 and in 1946.

It is now more than ever evident that the massive votes which have been given to President Eisenhower do not reflect Republican strength in the country but rather the personal status of Mr. Eisenhower as a leader above such parties and drawing support from both parties.

The Republicans have been able to win a congressional majority neither with nor without President Eisenhower as a candidate. The Senate emerged evenly divided, 48 to 48, in 1952. It went Democratic in 1954 by 48 to 47 to 1 when Wayne Morse became an Independent. It remained Democratic in 1956, 49 to 47, despite Mr. Eisenhower's greatly increased vote. Today it is Democratic 50 to 46. The House is Democratic by a majority of 16 and last year for the first time since the present two-party system came into being a party that won the presidency simultaneously lost both houses of Congress.

Tide Still Runs

Those are the facts behind Chairman Alcorn's frank recognition that the Wisconsin result is a "grim lesson." It is a grim result from the Republican standpoint because it shows that nothing the Republicans have done since 1952 and nothing President Eisenhower has been able to do in behalf of this party have arrested the Democratic strength in voting for Congress. It is all right to say that the Republicans were divided and dissatisfied in Wisconsin, but when Wisconsin Republicans have not sufficient interest to want to add a strong Eisenhower supporter to the Senate, it is hard to see that less-Republican states are likely to do so next year.

Mr. Alcorn's timely warning is that if the Republicans are to have any chance of winning Congress they will have to "forge a united party." What Mr. Alcorn is really saying is that unless the Republicans in Congress unite behind President Eisenhower, the voters are not going to unite behind the Republican Party.

The odds now more than ever are against Republican success next year and it is, therefore, Mr. Alcorn's hope that Wisconsin will cause some real soul-searching within the Republican Party.

The Lighter Side—

'Original' Hot-rodder Has Settled Down

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—Stuart Hamblen, a former drunk who ran for the presidency of the United States on the Prohibition ticket in 1952, is a man dedicated to God, to spiritual music, and to good works among prisoners and juvenile delinquents.

"I speak in a lot of prisons," he says. "A guy looks at me and knows I'm not lying. I got these big busted hands from fighting, and he knows I didn't get this face this way—with these scars and hard-living marks—just by playing pool.

"That's why I like to work with juveniles. There couldn't be any of 'em crazier'n I was. I got arrested for beating up a cop and had 33 speeding tickets in California. I was the original hotrod kid. In 1932, before they had their freeways, I drove from Los Angeles to San Francisco (430 miles) in six-and-a-half-hours in a hopped-up Model A ford.

He Dodged Bullets

"I outran three cops who were chasing me and had two bullet holes in my car when I got to San Francisco."

Hamblen was raised on a Texas ranch, and he still wears cowboy boots. He had eight professional boxing bouts in his youth, went to California and won the West Coast bronc-riding championship two years, and settled down to a 21-year radio career. On the side, he worked as the villain in 28 western movies.

His radio program was, he says, "a sort of western Arthur Godfrey type." He sang his own songs, such as, "I Won't Go Huntin' With You, Jake, But I'll Go Chasin' Women," and made records of them.

"It's no secret that in California I got to be an alcoholic," he says. "I know what it's like to wake up and wonder, 'What friend of mine has got a room like this?' My wife finally got me to listening to Billy Graham, back in the days when he didn't have big crowds, and I invited him to my home.

Won't Touch Stuff

"One night in 1949 I hit the sawdust trail. The love of liquor left me just like that. (Snapping his finger.) I went into a bar three days later and I sat there and watched those guys drinkin' that stuff and it never bothered me at all. I'll never touch it again.

"My friend John Wayne saw what had happened to me and he said, 'You ought to write a song about that—what God can do for you.' So, in 1950, I did. I wrote 'It Is No Secret.' To date it has sold over a million copies of sheet music, and the records are in the millions in 45 different recordings."

Then he wrote "This Old House" (four million records), "Open Up Your Heart And Let The Sunshine In" (more than a million), and "The Lord Is Counting On You," a Sunday school song.

Hamblen polled 72,881 votes in 1952 as a Prohibition candidate. "I went out huntin' in the mountains election night—I wasn't under any illusions that I had a chance," he recalled.

ON THE BALL

Redstone Still Fighting MVC Issue

Redstone hasn't given up its bid to stay in the Mon Valley Football Conference (formerly the Big Six but now reduced to the Big Five with Redstone out) by a long shot . . . At a recent school board meeting, the School Directors at the Republic school directed the secretary of the board to pen a letter to all school boards in the current Conference set-up, Monessen, Charleroi, Monongahela, Donora and Brownsville . . . The letter explains the reason for Redstone's principal John Sigwalt, missing the first meeting (his father's grave illness) and asks for a "reasonable and just cause for this school's expulsion from the conference." . . . The letter goes on to state that "if there is none (a just cause) the board has expressed its earnest desire that Redstone be reinstated."

Carl Crawley, Monessen High's All-Big Six fullback of last season has left for Dayton U. where he will perform for the Flyer frosh grid eleven . . . In addition to several Monessenites, other valley fans taking in the Buck Henry fight in Jeannette the other night were Charleroi Chief of Police Rome Ross and Junior High grid coach George Chacko of Charleroi . . . Incidentally, another fight card has been arranged for the district on September 9, this one at Arnold which will be promoted by Ben Anolik of Pittsburgh . . . Bobby Gordon, conqueror of Wilf Greaves last week, will be on the Arnold card . . . A former Monessen high basketballer (1938-39 era) Tom Barton has been named head cage mentor at LeMoyne College in Memphis, Tenn. . . . Barton earned his master's degree at Boston U.

Cager 'Recruited' from Europe

How's this for a recruiting job? Gonzaga University of Spokane, Washington (Bing Crosby's Alma Mater) has "obtained" the services of a French basketball player, Jean Claude LeFebvre . . . The French athlete stands 7-2 (yes, seven feet, two inches) . . . A former college coach from the U. S. was playing for a French National team in the European tournament recently and spotted the cager, he then wired his friend Hank Anderson, coach at Gonzaga and bingo! — LaFebvre was enrolled in the arts school at Gonzaga . . . Now if he can only play the caliber of ball in relation to his height, oui?

Pete Garnic, Charleroi High's faculty manager of athletics is recuperating at his home in Allenport from a recent attack of "kidney stones". Pete was stricken while visiting relatives in Princeton, N. J., last week . . . Speaking of faculty managers of athletics, Armand Mori has replaced Everett Pancook at that post here, Everett moving up to the late Frank McKosky's post as athletic director . . . Both are very capable men and are already doing a bang-up job . . . John "Corky" DeMillion has replaced Mori as Greyhound equipment custodian . . . DeMillion is also the 'Hound volleyball mentor and has a WPIAL and state title to his credit.

Crafton Back at Old Post at Pitt

Don Crafton, former Donora High star, who played center for Jimmy Russell but was switched to guard at Pitt has now had his status changed back to a pivot-post candidate by Coach Johnny Michelosen, so he should feel right at home . . . California High has two new foes on its 1957 grid card, Scottdale and Bethlehem Joint, and a new assistant coach in John Kupets, former assistant grid and head cage mentor at Redstone High . . . Mitch Bailey is the head tutor of the Trojans for the second year . . . The Pittsburgh Pirates will go all out tomorrow night to show their appreciation to their faithful followers with a "Fan Appreciation Night" in which Vic Damone will head a star-studded musical show on the field prior to the game.

Today's Sports Parade—

Althea Gibson Seen as Very Unpopular Champ

By OSCAR FRALEY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP)—Althea Gibson, Wimbledon's first Negro champion shooting for a grand slam in the U.S. championship, is regarded in tennis circles today as an unfortunate combination of Greta Garbo and Jackie Robinson.

A deliberately poor and unwilling mixer, Althea leaves no doubt in anybody's mind that she prefers to be left alone. And a campaign which started out as a racial crusade has clothed her in haughty arrogance and a thinly veiled hostility to the world in general.

She will not be a popular champion simply because of her "I am the queen" attitude.

Has Cold Indifference

Althea has not, at any time, gone out of her way to make friends or even accept the overtures made in her direction. A year ago, before her Wimbledon victory, you might have attributed this to shyness. But her most ardent supporters make no such claims any more since her world travels, her triumph at Wimbledon and her audience with Queen Elizabeth.

Wearing her air of superiority as if born with royalty's divine right, the girl whose garage attendant father once tried to train her to be a woman boxer has alienated would-be friends with her cold indifference.

She has snubbed interviewers with a callous curtness. She has failed to appear for scheduled interviews, including those with two important national magazines, and has autocratically sent various members of her family to fill in for her at the last minute on television shows.

Answers With Questions

When she does hold still for an interview, she shows a quite obvious displeasure and lack of cooperation. One of her favorite methods is to answer a question with a question whose tone borders on insult or, at the least, insolence.

The tennis world, being a social by-product, is not accustomed to this lack of graciousness in its champions. Particularly in view of the fact that Althea cannot be regarded as one of the truly greats, having arrived in a women's era notable only for its extreme lack of talent. She is not a Helen Wills Moody, a Helen Jacobs—or even a Pauline Betz.

Miss Gibson looks like a shoo-in in this, her eighth try to capture the U.S. crown because women's tennis is at such a low ebb. But not too many people are going to be happy about it and, barring a very great change, Althea is going to be one of the most lonesome and least-liked champions in sports history.

'Hounds in Review of Miscues

A planned scrimmage session at the Stadium yesterday failed to materialize as Coach Armand Niccolai of the Monessen Greyhound grid team and his assistants continued to go over faults found in Saturday's session with Greensburg.

Niccolai explained that the team needed some further work on defensive maneuvers especially against the "shifting" type of offense employed by Greensburg, which bothered the 'Hounds no little.

"We also need some brushing up on blocking, I found out, Saturday" Nick said.

There were some things, however, which pleased the coaching staff in the Saturday drill, with the ends coming in for the most praise, Dennis O'Toole 166-pound senior, and Paul Tobacco, 160-pound senior letter winner "handy man" both showing well at the terminal posts, Tobacco had been used at a halfback post but shifted to end prior to the scrimmage and may have found a "home".

Niccolai also thought Dan Barton and his quarterback understudy Carl Payne passed well for so early in the grind. The running of Joe Karbowsky, 160-pound senior, also impressed especially on a 40-yard run midway through the drill. The works of 260-pound Ed Allen on defensive also brightened the staff.

Injuries to Carl Ratty, letterman fullback candidate and Terry Thoop, promising guard candidate, have hampered the definite setting of a starting eleven. Both boys' injuries have been slow to respond to treatment

Yesterday's drills constituted reviewing mistakes and going over assignments. The "head-knocking" may come off today.

Steelers Cut Jelic, Three Other Gridders

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers were down to the 43-man player limit set for this time of the exhibition season by the National Football League today with the release of four players, including Ralph Jelic, standout fullback for the University of Pittsburgh last season.

Cut from the squad along with Jelic were rookie Dick Booker, Lincoln University end, Tom Hendrick, Michigan end and halfback, and Rudy Spitzenberger, Houston guard. Booker previously had been released by the Philadelphia Eagles.

Jelic played at offensive halfback in two Steeler exhibitions, but was not used in the team's Labor Day 17-12 victory over the Eagles. The decision to cut Jelic was reported the result of the showing of Henry Ford, another former Pitt star who was switched from defense to offense.

On Tuesday veteran end Elbie Nickel, who announced his retirement after 10 seasons with the Steelers but last week decided to play again, reported to camp. New coach Buddy Parker was not present and the squad had the day off.

Webster Climbing In PRA Standings

With his major handicap out of the way, Billy Webster of McKeesport is climbing again in the Pittsburgh Racing Association standings.

Webster has managed to stay in the top ten of the point standings this season despite the fact that he could only race at three of the four PRA tracks.

The McKeesport driver passed up the weekly races at Washington Raceway because they conflicted with his working hours.

Billy had slipped to tenth in the standings by the time Washington Raceway closed for the season last week. But he's back in eighth place as the PRA drivers go into the races this Thursday night at Heidelberg.

It will be Ladies Night at Heidelberg with all women admitted for half price.

Now being able to compete every night the PRA drivers run, Webster is a good bet to climb even higher before the season ends. PRA standings:

Herb Scott — Wexford	1906
Dick Linder — Brentwood	1602
Lee Stover — Blawnox	1190
Joe Mihalic — Harrison City	1069
Glade Neil — Beechview	1008
Dick Bailey — Grove City	990
Buddy O'Connor — Greenfield	971
Billy Webster — McKeesport	946
Ed Fiola — Turtle Creek	902
D. Hecker — New Kensington	872

49ers Cut Three

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The San Francisco Forty-Niners have reduced their roster to 44 players by placing center Ed Beatty, fullback Bill Bowman and end Merle Flattley on the waiver list.

Barantovich Faces Rebuilding at BHS

(This is another in a series of round-up articles on Valley grid teams. More will follow prior to the opening games on September 13 and 14. Monesen wil be covered in daily stories here.)

Brownsville High's Alex Barantovich, beginning his sophomore year as grid coach of the Brownie gridders, faces a major rebuilding job this season.

Graduation took the toll of 10 of last year's players, most of them seasoned performers like Dave Washington and Earl Brown in the backfield, Jerry Sluger, Fred Wilkes, Don Kostelnik, Don Mains, Rudy Bado, Vince D'Antonio, Buddy Sheets and Ed Stimmel from the line.

Alex Barantovich

In fact all that was left up front for this season was experience at the tackle posts with Myron Myrga and Joe Cesarone, regulars last season back at those slots.

Bob Breen will fill in at one of the end posts but was not the first string starter last year as Sluger and Wilkes handled those chores. Breen, however, saw action in every game.

The backfield shows Art Bentley, three-year veteran, and Geo. Baker returning. Bentley has one halfback post nailed down while Baker, who played both halfback and quarterback last year will probably be the regular ball-handler this season.

After those mentioned above the real work starts for Barantovich and assistants Jack Henck, Charley Slick and John Pringle, a former Redstone athlete, a newcomer to the staff.

"We'll need inspired play by the first-year players to make a showing even as good as the 5-5 mark of last season," Barantovich says in viewing the prospects for the coming season.

One bright spot is the fullback situation where Alan Lee Sepsi, 6-0, 175-pound brother of Andy Sepsi, a former All-Big Six choice and top conference scorer now at Pitt, looming as just as promising as Andy was a sophomore to back experienced Lee Sullivan.

A brief rundown on the candidate prospects for each position by the Brownie mentor follows:

ENDS — Breen is expected to team with Jim Garred, who was coming into his own late last season. Backing them are Ron Dennis, a junior but out for the first time, and Tom Burke.

TACKLES — Ceasarone at 185 and Myrga at 200 seem to have the posts sewed up. Right behind them are John Borsody and John Washnok, both "big boys" and both promising GUARDS — Biggest worry for the staff as none of the candidates has any previous varsity experience. Leading the way in early drills, however is 170-pound lad with the imposing moniker of Pierre Raleigh. Another newcomer impressing is Bernie Solomon, who goes a neat 220. Charley Smith at 165 and Ken Lippencott are other hopefuls.

CENTER — Finding a replacement for All-Big Six Don Kostelnik is difficult. Bill Shillings appears to have the first-string post set, backed by George Tobias.

QUARTERBACK — Baker has this spot all to himself with help from John Kanter. Baker considered a top-notch passer, is only a junior.

HALFBACKS — Bentley is all set for one of the halfback positions but his running mate will be selected from a group including Eddie Seddon, Fred Fletcher and Mike Matty. Fletcher, a 145-pound speed demon, is expected to get the nod here.

FULLBACK — Sepsi is one of the leading candidates but Sillivan will probably get a starting nod as he was the first-stringer early last season until sidelined with injuries. John Walton with some experience is also available.

Brownsville opens with Munhall on Sept. 13 and then meets Redstone, arch-rival from "next door" in the first home tilt on Sept. 27. Others on the schedule include Charleroi, Monessen, Monongahela, Donora, Uniontown ad Connellsville with two open dates on Sept. 20 and Nov. 1.

Youth Leagues Merger Stymied

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Possible merger of six teen-age baseball leagues appeared today to have been blocked by the difference in eligility ages for all but two of the groups.

The PONY League, largest of the leagues with 3,500 teams, declined possible merger because officials believed its 13 and 14-year-old players should not compete with boys as much as three years older. The Babe Ruth League, for boys 13 to 15, raised a similar objection.

The Prep League, with an age range of 15 and 17, and the Junior American Legion League, for boys up to 17, were regarded as outside the other leagues' age groups

The Colt League and the National Boys Baseball League, with players in the 15-16 age bracket, will meet again Sept. 15 at Springfield, Ill., to further consider merger.

Largest Junior High Squad in Years Here

Monessen Junior High grid coach Al Romasco greeted 58 football candidates for examinations and first '57 drills yesterday. The turnout was the largest at Monessen in years. Additional details on the squad will appear here tomorrow.

Softball Umps, Hallers in 'Big' Battle Tonight

The game of games will be staged tonight at the Ninth St. Park, with the Monessen Softball Umpires Association, taking on the local New Italian Hall entry of the city league this past year. The N. I. H softballers claim they will try to even things up with the local softball umps, for the "raw decisions" that were called against them during the regular season of play. But the men in blue are not easy to intimidate, that's why they challenged the Hallers to a showdown battle, with the winner to take all stakes, which will begin at 6:15 o'clock.

The game will be in capable hands, it is hoped with the Managers of the other teams in the league, as umpires trying to keep matters under control. It'll be a opportunity for them to also get even on a few scores.

President Ralph Trilli has tentative plans to field the following team for tonight's encounter, with some minor changes by game time.

THE PROBABLE LINEUP:

C. Santoro — Catcher
F. Gaudio — Right Field
R. DiBiaso — First Base
J. DiBiaso — Pitching
J. Lipnicky — Center Field
A. Kovatich — Left Field
J. Fedarko — Third Base
G. August — Short Stop
F. Alessio — Second Base
W. Lubecki or Trilli — Second, Short or Rover

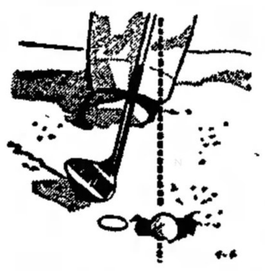
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



Buried Lies

Whenever the ball is all or partially buried in the sand, a good downward or chopping blow is needed to dig it out and send it on its way to the green. You'll get help if you close the face of your sand wedge slightly; this gives you a better digging angle.

In order to accentuate the downward, chopping nature of the stroke, position the ball about even with the right heel — so as to make the bottom of the swing arc come early.

For this type of trap shot, fix your eye on the spot where you want the clubhead to enter the sand. This spot should ordinarily be two to three inches behind the ball (texture of the sand will make a difference here). Keep your eye fixed on that spot until after the clubhead enters the sand and sends the ball on its way.

A long follow-through is hard to accomplish in this situation. But go through as far as your strength will permit.

Maryland Plans Comeback Drive In '57 Season

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UP)—Maryland has morale and experience as its chief weapons for a comeback drive this season.

Coach Tommy Mont, starting his second year, has 29 lettermen returning from the vaunted squad that collapsed with a loud thud in 1956. Hampered by unprecedented injuries, inexperienced coaching and some dissension, Maryland won only two games after years of high rank among the nation's football powers.

But Mont, naturally operating on the theory that things couldn't get worse, also has some solid grounds for optimism.

His 1957 red shirts include a platoon of veteran backs and some well tested linemen. Virtually every one of the injury riddled 1956 backs has returned fit and raring for revenge. All three quarterbacks—Dickie Lewis, Bob Ruscvlyan and John Fritsch — are back after a year of learning their grid lessons the hard way — in defeat.

In addition, two highly-regarded boys who had to sit out last season are available again. Halfback Howie Dare, sidelined by jaundice in '56, is the type of breakaway back that Mont's split-T needs. Fullback Phil Perlo, who dropped out of school last year, is eligible again and ready to give first string fullback Jim Hatter a battle for his job.

Offsetting the brighter outlook is the Terrapins' roughest schedule in history. Maryland's 1957 football path is strewn with such booby traps as Texas A&M, Tennessee, Miami (Fla.) Duke and fast-rising South Carolina.

Giants Sign Rookies

NEW YORK (UP)—The New York Giants have signed four youths to non-bonus contracts and assigned them to teams in their farm system. They are James Herrick, a 21-year-old pitcher from Lunenburg, Mass.; Charles Honafios, 19-year-old outfielder from Stratford, Conn.; Anthony Schaefer, 18-year-old shortstop from Bellport, N.Y., and Ronnie Stearns, a 21-year-old pitcher from Springfield, Mass.

Spahn Shaping Up as Starting Hurler in Opening Series Tilt

By MILTON RICHMAN

Southpaw Warren Spahn, with another National League record under his belt, is shaping up more and more as the logical choice to pitch the opening World Series game for the Milwaukee Braves.

The 36-year-old Spahn, who began his major league career 15 years ago, under Casey Stengel—the man he probably will be trying to beat a month from now—registered his 41st shutout by blanking the Chicago Cubs, 8-0, on six hits Tuesday.

That gave Spahn the league record for total lifetime shutouts by a left handed pitcher. It also gave him 18 victories for the season and made him a good bet to embellish another N.J. mark he holds. He is the only southpaw in the history of the circuit who has won 20 games in seven different seasons and now it looks as if he is going to make it eight.

The Braves thereby maintained their comfortable 8½ game lead over the second - place Cardinals, who crushed the Redlegs, 14-4. The Phillies defeated the Dodgers, 3-2, in 12 innings and the Giants beat the Pirates, 6-5 in 12 innings.

Yanks Widen Gap

Over in the American League, the Yankees increased their lead to 5½ games with a 2-0 triumph over the Orioles, while the Tigers scored an 11-inning 3-2 victory over the White Sox in the only other game scheduled.

The Cards shelled Joe Nuxhall for four runs in the first inning and Raul Sanchez for four more in the second as they rapped out 16 hits, including a homer by Del Ennis. Hal Smith led the onslaught by driving in four runs while Ennis and pitcher Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell each drove in three.

Ex-Dodger Chico Fernandez tripled in the 12th inning and scored the winning run for the Phillies on Willie Jones sacrifice fly. Don Drysdale of the Dodgers nursed a 2-0 lead until Harry Anderson tied the score with a two-run homer in the ninth.

Dick Farrell, who relieved starter Jack Sanford in the eighth and pitched four hitless innings before retiring for a pinch hitter, was credited with his seventh win.

The Giants won their 12-inning game from the Pirates when Ray Jablonski's sacrifice fly brought in Danny O'Connell. Valmy Thomas sent the game into extra innings with a homer in the ninth. Prior to that, Willie Mays and O'Connell had walloped two-run homers. Stu Miller was the winner and Bob Smith the loser.

Sal Maglie made his first appearance for the Yankees in helping them nail down their victory against the Orioles. The winner was Tom Sturdivant but he yielded to Maglie in the ninth after George Kell opened with his third single of the game. Maglie gave up one more hit but retired the last three batters.

Mickey Mantle went hitless in four times up, dropping to .370, six points behind Ted Williams.

Al Kaline blasted his 21st home run in the 11th inning off Gerry Staley to sink the White Sox. Walt Dropo put Chicago ahead with a homer in the ninth but Detroit tied the score in the bottom of the frame on a walk, a sacrifice and Ray Boone's pinch single.

Sporstmen's Corner—

Game Commission's Timely Hunting Tips

With the approach of hunting season the Game Commission counsels outdoorsmen to consider these recommendations which, acted upon, will assure more pleasure, success and safety when afield with gun:

1. Inspect and field test sporting arms soon. This is a safety measure, and such a check will assure the owner that the guns will function properly when fired at wild game. Just before season gunsmiths are swamped with repair work; the favorite firearm may therefore not be ready in time for "the opener". A gun in good working order assures more pleasure and greater success afield.

2. Try out your rifle and sharpen your eye on a range and fire the shotgun at clay birds to regain coordination and timing. Take a youngster, or an inexperienced oldster, along so that he will learn how to shoot safely and correctly. Afterward, go out for woodchucks or crows, mixing pleasure with your practice.

3. Condition yourself for hunts later. Don't over-exert; know your limitations. Take hikes over the countryside, beginning with short trips. Gradually increase the distance, doing some reasonable hill climbing. Sore feet and cramped muscles take the pleasure out of hunting. According to the record, the heart also is worthy of consideration, in early conditioning and during hunts in season.

4. The hunter whose eyesight is not sharp at average shooting distance would be wise to have his vision checked, following which corrective measures should be taken well in advance of season. Not only will the ability to see distinctly improve hunting success, it could prevent a mistake shooting.

5. One of the best times to continue or renew friendly relations with landowners, the hunter's hosts in fall, is during summer. Visits to favorite shooting localities will also acquaint sportsmen with changes in the game situation since the previous year. Such surveys could mean greater hunting success when the hunting season rolls around.

Lions Trim Roster

DETROIT (UP)—Halfback Dick Kircher, linebacker Hillmer Olson and fullback Don Daley have been released on waivers by the Detroit Lions. The National Football League club also announced it has placed tackle Dick Marazza of Clemson on the reserve list so he could return to school.

Williams - Mantle HR Duel Delayed

NEW YORK (UP)—A scheduled pre-game home run duel between Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle tonight has been postponed, but the two sluggers will continue their battle for the American League batting crown in a game between the Red Sox and Yankees.

Williams and Mantle had been slated to take a dozen swings each before tonight's game for a prize of $1,000, with the money going to the winner's favorite charity.

The event was postponed until Sept. 20, however, because Williams is nursing a cold, and Mantle a painful case of shin splints. Both are expected to be in the lineup tonight, however.

Mantle went hitless in four trips against the Orioles Tuesday, his average dipping to .370, six points behind Williams.

How they compare:

	G	AB	R	H	Pct.
Williams	121	402	87	151	.376
Mantle	133	446	115	165	.370

Fullmer - Vejar On TV Tonight

WEST JORDAN, Utah (UP)—Former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer risks his No. 1 rating tonight against clever Chico Vejar in a scheduled 10-round bout in Fullmer's home town.

The clash between Fullmer and the Stamford, Conn., fighter will be out of doors in the West Jordan Arena.

Stocky, bull-necked Fullmer is a slight favorite at 3-1 because of his aggressive style and his more impressive ring record. Some 5,000 fans are expected to pack the arena.

Giants Take Advantage of Poor Buc Fielding, Win 6 - 5, in 12th

NEW YORK (UP)—The New York Giants took advantage of loose Pittsburgh fielding to score a run in the 12th inning Tuesday night and defeat the Pirates, 6-5, at the Polo Grounds.

With Danny O'Connell on first base for the home team and the score deadlocked, 5-5, Pirate second baseman Bill Mazeroski knocked down Don Mueller's liner. Mazeroski elected to try to nail Mueller at first instead of forcing O'Connell.

After Mueller beat the throw, first baseman Frank Thomas threw wild endeavoring to get O'Connell at second and both runners were safe. Bob Smith, the Pirates' fourth pitcher of the night walked Willie Mays. Bob Purkey replaced Smith and Ray Jablonski drove a fly to center to bring in O'Connell with the winning tally. The Giants score came without a hit.

The first five Giant runs were the result of homers by Mays, his 31st—O'Connell and Valmy Thomas. Mays' and O'Connell's came with one.

Thomas's ninth inning roundtripper sent the game into extra innings and Bob Skinner hit an inside-the-park homer for Pittsburgh in the sixth.

The victory gave the Giants a sweep of the three-game series here. When the Giants and the Pirates move to Pittsburgh for a game tonight, Bob Friend (10-7) will pitch for the home team and Al Worthington (8-9) for the visitors.

Switching Pitt Backfield Talent

PITTSBURGH (UP)—University of Pittsburgh coach John Michelosen experimented with his backfield lineup Tuesday as the Panthers went through a dummy scrimmage at a practice session.

Dick Bowen, who usually plays fullback, was switched to left half back replacing Dick Haley, and Bob Stark, a 20-pound junior from East McKeesport, was used at the fullback spot.

Sharon Steel Joins With Other Firms to Make Light Metals

NEW YORK (UP) — Three companies announced they have formed a 55 million dollar integrated firm to produce titanium, zirconium and other light metals for missiles, jet aircraft and nuclear devices.

The companies are P.R. Mallory & Co., Sharon Steel Corp., and National Distillers and Chemical Corp.

The integrated firm will be known as Mallory-Sharon Metals Corp. The three participating companies will have equal representation on its board.

Mallory and Sharon have a plant at Niles, Ohio, capable of melting 1 million pounds of titanium a month. Formed in 1951, the Mallory-Sharon unit has been buying titanium sponge on the open market. It now will buy sponge from a new plant at Ashtabula, Ohio, being finished by National Distillers. James A. Roemer, who has been president of Mallory-Sharon Titanium, will be president of the new integrated firm.

Roemer said the new company will produce more titanium this year than it can sell—but sales will be up 20 to 25 per cent from last year.

Roemer said he expected commercial use of metallic titanium, now small, to grow rapidly. "right now," he said, "titanium's largest single market is in aircraft jet engines, but these engines requirements of course, are diminishing as missiles come up.

"However, we see a bright future for titanium in missiles. As the transition from manned aircraft to missiles takes place speeds will increase to thousands of miles per hour . . . the situation on missile airframes then will be comparable to the present one on airplane jet engine — titanium will be the best light-weight metal at temperatures from 300 to 1,000 degrees."

Roemer said titanium will be even more useful in missiles where because the useful life is so short the titanium can be used more closely to its thermal limit. "The same titanium alloy that can be operated for hundreds of hours at 900 degrees in an airplane jet engine can be operated at up to 2,000 degrees in the short life of a missile," he explained.

Contract with AEC

In addition to producing 10 million pounds of titanium sponge a year, the plant being finished at Ashtabula by national distillers will turn out 2 million pounds of zirconium. National Distillers has a contract to sell the Atomic Energy Commission 1 million pounds of zirconium yearly for five years —about 45 per cent of the government's requirements. The plant is to start production this month.

Zirconium's great value is its extremely low neutron-absorption cross section. It also has great corrosion resistance, especially to chlorides. It is a bright - surfaced, ductile metal, easily machined and could have a good commercial future.

The new company also is getting royalty free National Distillers' sodium process for reduction of titanium, zirconium and otherlight metals. Robert E. Hulse, National Distillers' executive vice-president, said this process has been tested at a plant near Ashtabula and that it will make great savings possible in producing both titanium and zirconium.

Miss America Pageant Opens With Parade

ATLANTIC CITY (UP)— The preliminary hoopla was ended today and 51 lovely ladies were ready to turn their charms, beauty and talent on the board of 11 judges to determine who will be Miss America of 1958.

The fanfare which holds this annual pageant ended on a high note Tuesday night when the contestants participated in a gigantic parade along the resort boardwalk.

On floats and open automobiles the young misses received the applause of a crowd estimated at 200,000. They basked in the gleaming light along the colorful line of march and smiled and waved gaily at those who came to cheer.

The parade even had a hitchhiker. Miss Wisconsin's automobile failed to appear at the starting point and she rode with Miss West Virginia.

Beginning tonight, and continuing for the next three nights, the girls must call on their skill and talent which made them state and metropolis winners.

Seventeen will stroll the runway tonight in evening gowns. Another 17 will make their way along the lighted ramp in swimsuits. The remaining 17 will be allotted three minutes to perform, each in her specialty, running the gamut from dramatic reading and piano recitals to interpretative dances and trampoline and tumbling acts.

Ladies May Get to Moon Before Men

NW YORK (UP)—The ladies may beat the men to the moon, according to psychologists.

That guess was made Tuesday by members of the American Psychological Assn. in a symposium on space travel.

The first human to reach the moon, said Dr. Harold B. Pepinsky of Ohio State University, might be a psychotic woman midget who is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Two other psychologists, Drs. Herbert Krugman of New York and Donald Michael of Stamford, Conn., suggested that the first person to stop at the moon might be a Russian woman.

They based their guesses on the physical demands of rocket travel and Soviet claims of technological advances.

Going a step further, they wondered what a female conquest of the moon would do to the concept of the superior strength of the male.

"Imagine," said Krugman, "the first person to reach the moon would be a small girl instead of a big hulking cowboy type."

Progress Hurts

HINTON, Okla. (UP) — Businessmen do not hail the age of progress here, at least not when it involves changing the old-style telephones over to a new dial system. They complain they no longer can call up the operator and say "I'm going for coffee. If anyone calls, I'll be at the restaurant."

Mergers Create Top Level Unemployment

By ALFRED LEECH

CHICAGO (UP) — Mergers are creating unemployment among top level executives, a noted job counsellor said today.

Lon Barton, who specializes in finding jobs for highly paid executives, said the "job mortality rate" in the top brackets is growing rapidly.

The trend toward mergers and acquisitions has been widely discussed from an economic viewpoint, Barton said, while the impact on individuals has been ignored.

Barton, whose Cadillac Associates, Inc., places hundreds of executives annually, said the "chiefs" usually suffer more than the "indians" in a merger. As a rule, he said, the work force is left intact while the executives are reshuffled.

"It's understandable that a new management would want to clear out the deadwood," he said.

But on the other hand, he said, competent men may be chopped down when the incoming group seeks to eliminate real or fancied opposition to its new policies.

"I don't like to see this trend," Barton said. "But it's certainly evident from our own experience this past year in job placement.

"Just under 15 per cent of the executives we've interviewed have been victims of some type of merger or sale. And another group, nearly 10 per cent, saw the handwriting on the wall and either quit or began looking for new jobs."

It's a serious business, Barton said, because most incoming managements feel more confident with their own men in the key spots and will appoint them to the top jobs sooner or later, "probably sooner."

"Any executive who thinks he can survive in such a situation is making a dangerous and foolish blunder," Barton said.

"In all likelihood his 'resignation' will be requested within six months after the new group takes over."

So Barton had this advice for management men who hear the word "merger."

"Line up another job. Head for the corporate hills, and fast."

Pat Knows for Fact Now About Scotsman's Kilt

LONDON (UP) — If pretty Pat Cottee ever doubted it, she knows it for a fact now — a Scotsman doesn't wear anything under his kilt.

Her boyfriend, Pvt. Peter Gannon, was forced to fling aside his kilt right before her eyes and jump into the River Thames to save a drowning man, Pat's blushes notwithstanding.

Gannon, a student in the famed Gordon Highlanders Regiment, was sitting with Pat on a towpath along the Thames Saturday night when they heard a splash. A man had fallen into the river.

Off came Peter's tunic and kilt, on came Pat's blushes. But while Gannon made the rescue, Pat ran for help.

GOP Urges Voters Take Interest in County Courts

An official of the Republican County Committee today urged Westmoreland voters to take special interest in court proceedings in Greensburg between now and Nov. 5.

"Results of trials should be carefully wached," said Mrs. Emma Watt McIntire, vice chairman of the GOP county committee.

"Not only will it be interesting to study verdicts that are returned by jury deliberation or court direction, but sentences that are imposed in case convictions may provoke considerable thought."

Mrs. McIntire said every voter "should acquaint himself with how justice is administered in Westmoreland."

Two of the judges on the common pleas bench, Edward G. Bauer and David H. Weiss, are Democratic candidates to succeed themselves. The third Democratic nominee is L. Alexander Sculco, district attorney.

Republican nominees for the three judgeships are Robert H. Rial, Avra N. Pershing, Jr., and Willis E. Topper.

Mrs. McIntire recommended a comparison between the work of the incumbent judges until Nov. 5 and the records and pledges of the Republican nominees.

Anthony DeFazios Honor Guests on 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DeFazio of Green St. observed the silver anniversary of their marriage with a party at the family home on Saturday. Arranging the affair were their children, Betty, Donald and Tommie.

A few friends and relatives gathered for the informal social affair, which was highlighted by the serving of buffet refreshments from a table, which was centered with an anniversary cake.

Mrs. DeFazio wore an orchid corsage, also a gift from the children.

The couple received many flowers, cards and greetings as well as gifts from their guests.

Dancing, group singing and other entertainment was featured. Pictures of the festivities were taken.

Among the guests was James DeFazio of Burbank, Calif., a brother of Mr. DeFazio, who was back in Belle Vernon to visit for the first time in 12 years. Other guests attended from Latrobe, Fairhope and Charleroi.

Mr. and Mrs. DeFazio were wed on Aug. 22, 1932 at the Mother of Sorrows Church in Charleroi. They have lived almost their entire married life in Belle Vernon.

Claims Brakes Were Defective

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UP)—The engineer of the train that killed at least 173 persons Sunday in the worst wreck in peacetime history said today its air brakes were defective—or perhaps sabotaged.

Garnish Lurch said he applied the brakes twice as the train headed into "death curve," outside the hill town of Kendal. The brakes had no effect, and air pressure in the system fell off to zero.

"Someone either disengaged the angle cock in one of the coaches or the air hose broke because of mechanical defects," Lurch said.

"I gave three long blasts of the whistle to warn the thousands of excursionists that something was wrong up front. Suddenly, there was a loud sound, as if the heavens had fallen, and when I looked back my train was an unforgettable wreck."

Steel Upturn Starts

NEW YORK (UP) — The expected post-Labor Day upturn in the steel industry is underway and will reach a peak late in November or early December, Iron Age said today.

"Much of the new strength comes from new orders for automotive steel," the authoritative trade magazine said. "But there has been expansion in volume of orders from miscellaneous sources."

The metalworking weekly said that auto firms have worked off substantial inventories and will be active in the sheet and strip market for more steel than they took a year ago at the start of new model runs.

It pointed out that defense cutbacks will not affect steel as much as other materials because the "amount of steel going directly or indirectly into defense programs has not been large."

Iron Age made a special analysis of auto and steel industry labor problems and reported "strong possibilities" of an auto strike in 1958 and a steel strike in 1959.

"In both cases strike indications stem from excessive demands by the unions against strong management resistance to pacts that will force higher prices."

For the auto industry the magazine forecast that United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther will trade dollars for his shorter work week proposal. He will get "a good wage increase for skilled labor, a moderate increase for production workers and some refinements in fringes."

For the steel industry Iron Age forecast a "belated attempt" by United Steelworkers President David McDonald to tighten up control of the union and a "65-35 chance that there will be a steel strike in 1959."

The union, facing a "much tighter management front because of weariness in having to raise prices every year," will get a wage package "not quite up to the one gained last year, but with enough cents per hour and fringe benefits to boost prices again in 1959 and each year in the contract," Iron Age forecast.

Billy Graham, Wife Expecting Child

NEW YORK (UP) — Evangelist Billy Graham and his wife expect their fifth child next spring.

Graham gave the news to a United Press reporter before the evangelist left New York Sunday night for a vacation at his Montreat, N. C., home. He had asked that it not be mentioned until today.

The devotional part of the meeting was conducted by Peg Gillingham, who read a section from the first chapter of the Corinthians. Her topic was "Not Easily Provoked". A singspiration followed under the leadership of Kathleen Leckemby.

The Rev. Mr. Guest showed films of a recent trip he and his wife took to Colorado.

William Maurer then gave a brief summary of the 21 years the Rev. Mr. Guest gave to the church. He presented a gift to the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Carson, the first couple to be married by the honor guest, were present at the farewell affair.

The group was served lunch donated by the Good News Bible Study Class. Dora Ritchie was chairman, assisted by Estella Roberts, Pauline and Muriel Kriston, Agnes Leonard, Kathleen Leckemby, Peg Gillingham and June Cupples.

Tennessee Democrat Stubborn

WASHINGTON (UP) — Veteran Capitol Hill hands agreed today that a persistent Tennessee legislator pulled one of the neatest tricks of the recent session of Congress.

Rep. Jere Cooper, a Democrat, took on half of official Washington, including President Eisenhower, in single-handedly blocking a fast-rolling bill to increase lead-zinc import taxes.

When it was all over, Cooper apparently had not seriously alienated any of those he opposed. One ardent supporter of the measure said Cooper took the stand he did because "he had to as a matter of principle."

As chairman of the powerful House Ways & Means Committee, Cooper saw to it that an administration proposal calling on Congress to increase duties on imports of the two metals never got beyond the hearing stage.

Says Increases Needed

The administration said the increases were needed to protect American lead and zinc industries from harmful foreign competition. Even the State Department, which usually is reluctant to strain relations with other nations by supporting higher tariffs on their products, went along with the proposal.

But Cooper, whose state includes some zinc mining, opposed the higher imports on grounds that having Congress enact them would undercut the reciprocal trade program which he has long championed.

In a letter to the President, Cooper said he did not intend to "imply that the lead and zinc industries may not need relief."

But he told Eisenhower the President already has "ample authority" to provide such relief for the nation's miners "as you deem necessary in the national interest."

"I am also confident that you will agree that to by-pass the existing provisions of our trade agreements law will undermine the trade agreements program," Cooper said.

Ike Defends Proposal

A week later the President replied that "my view with respect to maintaining the integrity (of the reciprocal trade program) is at one with yours." But he went on to defend his proposal.

He said his request to have Congress increase lead-zinc tariffs, was the "sole exception (to reciprocal trade agreements) proposed by this administration in over 4½ years.

Tub Equals Divorce

CLEVELAND (UP) — A judge today pondered whether a wife's denying her husband use of the family bathtub for 12 years is grounds for divorce. Eugene S. Klepek, 41, testified that he had to use the basement laundry tubs because his wife became infuriated "if I left a towel out of place or dripped water on the floor" upstairs.

BOY SCOUTS IN IRON JACKETS

LOUIS JENKINS of Huntington Park, Calif., is a scoutmaster of two Boy Scout troops, one of which is believed to be the only one of its kind. The members of Troop 869 are all post quarantine patients in a polio ward at Rancho Los Amigos. At their sessions, Jenkins brings along some scouts from his other group, Troop 447, to help out their buddies in the ward. Scouts of Troop 869 pass their tests even though they're confined to respirators. They explain how a requirement is met while a visiting Scout performs the actual deed. (As an example of how tough this can be, just try to tell a friend how to tie a difficult knot without moving your hands). This program, incidentally, is a type of physical therapy that is encouraged by the doctors.

A weekly meeting of Troop 869 finds everyone present in ward. Boys make Scout sign within their breathing aids.

Red Jet To Land Today

LONDON (UP) — A TU104 jetliner, first Russian plane to visit the United States in 20 years, streaked over the Atlantic today carrying 40 Soviet U.N. delegates to New Jersey's McGuire Air Force Base.

The two-engined, silver-painted plane flew here from Moscow today, then took off for the United States after a brief stopover. It is expected to reach the U.S. airfield at about 6:30 p.m. e.d.t.

Despite Soviet protests, the plane was routed to McGuire—recently the reception center for Hungarian victims of the Russians arriving as refugees in the United States — because jet planes are barred from New York's commercial airports.

In addition to its 60 passengers and a six-man Russian crew, the plane carried three British air force navigators on the Moscow-London leg of the journey. It will pick up American navigators at Goose Bay, Labrador.

The jet is piloted by B. P. Bugayev, a veteran Soviet airline pilot who has logged more than 625,000 miles in the air.

The last Russian plane to land in the United States was a single-engined Nant 25, piloted by Mikhail Gromov, which set a long-distance record of 7,140 miles in a pioneering flight over the North Pole in 1937. The Nant landed in San Jacinto, Calif.

TWO LEFT NOW — Leaving only two surviving veterans of the Civil war, William A. (Uncle Bill) Lundy, a Confederate veteran who served at the age of 16, is dead in Crestview, Fla., at the age of 109. The other two survivors, both Confederates, are John Salling, 111, of Slant, Va., and Walter Williams, 115, of Franklin, Tex.

Taps Sounded For Southern Civil War Vet

CRESTVIEW, Fla. (UP) — Taps sound in a rural cemetery today for William Allen Lundy, one of the last three veterans of the South's Civil War army.

Funeral services for the 109-year-old Confederate veteran were scheduled at the First Baptist Church here with the Rev. Hal Hunter and a military chaplain officiating.

The old soldier, who was known to hundreds as "Uncle Bill," was to lie in state in the church for two hours before the brief ceremony, his coffin draped in a Confederate flag.

A U.S. Army honor guard was to stand guard at the church, then escort the flag-draped coffin to the little cemetery at Laurel Hill, 20 miles north of here, near the home of Lundy's sons where he lived out his last days.

Lundy, who had often vowed to live to 120, served with the Alabama Home Guard during the Civil War, when he was 16 years old. He was an "unreconstructed" rebel to the end, but said he held no bitterness toward the Yankees.

Ike to Permit Little Girl to Keep Her Calf

WASHINGTON (UP)—This is the story of a little girl named Sharon Kay Stuffer, a calf named Pearl and a President named Eisenhower.

Sharon Kay — a nine-year-old citizen of Walkersville, Md. — raised Pearl and entered her in the Maryland State Fair at Timonium.

Pearl won a $1,000 prize.

But Sharon Kay was sad. The contest rules called for sending the prize-winning calf as a gift to the President.

Sharon Kay burst into tears at the thought of never seeing Pearl again. However, after a family conference, the Stuffers decided to give Pearl to Maryland Gov. Theodore McKeldin for shipment to the Eisenhower farm.

Sharon Kay was promised a Tennessee walking horse to take Pearl's place.

The White House heard about the gift and the tears Tuesday.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty conferred with the President. Then Hagerty announced that the President "would never want to deprive a youngster of a calf she had raised."

"If the reports were true, he would not accept the calf," Hagerty said.

"Yes, Sharon Kay, there is a Santa Claus."

Memorials

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Alice Wilcox, who died nine years ago, September 1, 1948.
She bade no one a last farewell,
She said goodbye to none;
Her loving heart had ceased to beat
Before we knew that she had gone
Her cheerful smile and kindly ways
We pleasantly recall,
She had kind words for everyone
And died beloved by all.
On earth is grief, in Heaven rest,
We miss her most who loved her best.
Sadly missed by the Barkley, Carson and Wilcox Families.

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Jennie (Jean) D'Altorio, who died ten years ago today, Sept 4, 1947.
Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of thee.
Oh! How we miss you, Jean, dear,
No one but God can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But, no, it isn't true.
For ten long years have passed, dear Jean,
And our hearts still ache for you.
Sadly missed by Mother, Sister, Brothers, Nieces and Nephew.

In loving memory of our dear mother and mother-in-law, Mrs. Ann Danilchak, who died four years ago, September 1, 1953.
Gone, dear loved one, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left it to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Danilchak and Family.

Parking Tag 'Plus'

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP) — Bill Bruce Davis, 23, is wondering whether it pays to own your own car. All because Davis parked his car illegally in an alley he was charged with the following: Possession of illegal whiskey; vagrancy; wife and child abandonment; illegal parking.

Life with Father

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (UP) — Edgar Spears' two teen - aged sons solved a legal problem, but it didn't make their father too happy. Police couldn't arrest Spears for drunkenness because he was inside his home, so the two boys dragged him outside where the arrest was legal.

Market Dip Is Expected

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks should dip in September if the market follows the statistics of the past.

But they should have risen in August and didn't. And that proves the market doesn't always follow the statistics.

As the street views the situation, the bulls have the advantage over the bears on the basis of the big drop in the market from the year's highs set on July 12.

It is pointed out that yields on leading stocks have risen to a point where they are not suffering from such great competition with bond yields as they did a short time ago.

Just to keep the record straight for those not familiar with Wall Street calculations, it should be noted that the market had its traditional summer rally even though it didn't look that way.

The way Wall Street calculates a summer rally is this: It is a summer rally if the July-August high betters the May closing level. This year the July high beat the May close. Hence it was a summer rally.

Many Guesses

There are four months ahead for the market in 1957, and there are many guesses on what will happen.

None looks for a bear market. None looks for wild selling — dumping of stocks regardless of where they go price-wise.

Also none looks for a wild bull boom. However, some believe that the industrial average may have as its upper mark of fluctuation a figure that could beat the record high of 521.05 set on April 6, 1956 and nearly touched on Aug. 2, 1956, and again on July 12th this year.

The lower level of the fluctuations is set variously from the recent low of 470.14 set on Aug. 26 and the year's low of 454.82 set on Feb. 12. The latter was a new low since Oct. 19, 1955.

As far as inflation goes, Wall Street has just about forgotten it as a market factor for the remainder of the year. But it isn't convinced that inflation has been licked and that bonds therefore are the things to buy to the exclusion of common stocks.

There's gloom in the financial district, but it's in the brokerage houses themselves and not too much of a bogey for the customers. The brokers, with quiet markets, just haven't been making money enough to have any left after meeting routine expenses.

Duck Shoots Hunter

County to Conduct Polio Victims Survey

A census of post-polio patients now being conducted in Westmoreland County will include victims of so-called nonparalytic polio, as well as those severely crippled by the disease.

William B. Lewis, Westmoreland County chairman for the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis, said that the names of all polio victims are desired.

"Medical research in recent years has demonstrated that some patients, originally listed as nonparalytic cases, may develop muscular weaknesses, curvature of the spine and limb deformities, even after a lapse of several years," Lewis explained.

After the census of all post-polio patients has been completed, an intensive study of their current medical needs will be conducted. Both the census and the evaluation programs are financed by the National Foundation.

Getting Picture

Not all those registered in the present canvass will require help at this time, Lewis said, nor can help be given to all who desire it.

"What we are doing now is to get an up-to-date picture of the size of the problems so that we can measure our own responsibilities to the polio victims of the past," he said.

"We want to know how many post-polio patients, regardless of age or date of onset of the disease, can be helped by modern rehabilitation techniques and thereby regain useful lives. Many of the techniques either did not exist or were not widely used when patients were being treated years ago.

"An important part of our job is to acquaint former polio patients, particularly those diagnosed as non-paralytic cases, for whom no record has been maintained. We intend to do everything humanly possible to help those who need aid, either now or in the next few years."

The canvass, conducted by chapter personnel is to be completed this month. The county program is part of a countrywide survey organized by the National Foundation.

Former China Expert Goes Back to Work

WASHINGTON (UP) — John Stewart Service, restored to the State Department staff by Supreme Court decision, went to work today on a "non-sensitive" job — shipping household and other possessions to the foreign service.

His title: Assistant to the deputy assistant secretary of state for operations.

The China expert regained his old rank. His pay of $12,900 a year represented a $1,050 raise during six years of suspension.

A State Department spokesman said Service will not be handling secret or confidential information.

Service was fired on Dec. 14, 1951, by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who acted on the report of a review board which found 'reasonable doubt" of the career diplomat's loyalty. Earlier, Service had been cleared six times by loyalty - security boards.

The Supreme Court ruled last June 17 that Acheson had improperly dismissed Service. A federal district court later ordered the State Department to re-employ

Emotions Affect Heart

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Heart diseases can be "catching."

Of course, I don't mean they are contagious. You can't "catch" heart disease from anyone, but, you might "catch" similar symptoms.

For example, let's say that a close relative or friend, or maybe a business partner, becomes a victim of heart disease.

If you are a person with strong emotions, you might actually develop symptoms which closely resemble organic cardiac disease.

The so-called "soldier's heart" is a good example of what I mean. We know that this ailment results from essential changes in the hypothalamus, the gland that controls the autonomic nervous system.

Sometimes the emotional upheavals are so marked that they cause changes in electrocardiagraph readings that are virtually impossible to distinguish from those following true organic disease.

In fact, a New York City internist, Dr. Maxwell L. Gelfand, goes so far as to state that the majority of patients who go to a doctor with heart symptoms do not show any evidence of organic cardiac disorder.

Rather, he says in an article in a recent issue of Medical Times they are suffering from emotional disturbances.

There is convincing evidence, he emphasizes, that certain serious and even fatal types of heart disease can be produced solely by emotional distress.

Although the heart has a great capacity to absorb much stress, we have reason to believe that strong emotional reactions are enough to produce cardiac symptoms in persons with normal hearts.

Question and Answer

V. W.: What would cause an excessive growth of hair on a woman's face at the age of 27?

Answer: The cause of superfluous hair is not known. It is probably due to some glandular disorder.

However, just what glands have been involved has not as yet been determined.

Guy Mitchell Wants To Quit TV Business

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — ABC-TV captured Guy Mitchell for a TV series this season, but the network had to beat on the singer's barrel chest before it got him.

"I was ready to quit this business last spring. I'd had it. I fought for three days before I signed for this show," Mitchell said. Seated in his Manhattan hotel suite, he was dressed informally even for Mitchell—in an undershirt, twill pants and cowboy boots.

"I had this paper right in my hands for this ranch I was going to buy. Right outside Houston it was, 275 acres with a 15 acre lake. It's something I've wanted all my life—a ranch where I could raise boys who never got a break.

A Bigger Ranch?

"And this is no bull: The only reason I signed for this show was because it's going to make it possible for me to get an even bigger ranch. All I got to do is last one more year in TV and that'll be enough to make my down payment."

Mitchell, who has been riding pretty high since he cut "Sing The Blues" last season, will launch his 30-minute ABC-TV musical program on Oct. 7.

"I don't want to stick to any rigid format on this show and I don't want to get in the race for big names," he said. "I don't go for that business of getting 15 big names, putting a big ad in the paper and then having them do as little as possible.

Mitchell, a Detroit boy whose parents were Croatian immigrants, is grateful to the entertainment business for providing him with a comfortable living. But, he emphasized, he's not tied to the business.

"I've got a goal in life—I want this ranch where kids who never had a chance can get a fresh slant. I don't care anything for wealth and I figure the best time to quit is when you're on top. I should know—I've been on the bottom twice.

"Man, I'm 30 now and I'm not going to wait forever to reach my goal. I want it by next summer. With a little luck, I'm going to make it."

In Hollywood—

Singer Wants to Be Actor

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Dean Martin has pulled a real cinematic switcheroo — from monkeyshines with Jerry Lewis to dramatic death scenes with Marlon Brando and Montgomery Clift.

This is fast company for the easy-going singer.

"Appearing in a picture with a couple of top actors like Brando and Clift makes a guy work better," he said over a cocktail. "It's like playing golf with a pro—you hit your shots better.

"You watch and you learn. And those two guys are real pros."

Martin, who played catcher for Lewis' custard pies and soda water gags down through the years, portrays an American soldier in "The Young Lions." He provides the picture's climax by killing Brando in the final scene.

First Serious Role

"All I ever killed in my other movies was time," Dean quipped.

He was quick to add that he wasn't rapping the Martin and Lewis epics, saying, "they put us on top and made a lotta money.

"But I've always wanted to be a serious actor, and this is my first chance to prove I can come through in something besides comedy."

The wisecracking singer, back from location shooting in Paris, blasted the city of light as "dullsville."

"I went over there for ten days and stayed seven weeks," he complained. "I despised every minute of it. How long can you sit around in hotel lobbies? My wife and kids weren't with me and I missed them.

"We have seven kids. Our dining room at home looks like the mess hall at Boystown when it's time for chow. You miss things like that.

Bored Sitting Around

"I got so bored sitting around that I looked up Gary Crosby—he's in the Army over there—and we spent hours watching a guy press clothes in the George V Hotel. He did a real neat job."

Asked if he was mobbed by fans, Dean shook his mop of black hair.

"Naw. I wore a dark hat and gray-felt glasses. Only two people recognized me. They said, 'can we have your autograph, Mr. Mature?'

"One lady rushed up and said, 'are you Jerry Lewis?' I said, 'no, are you?' I didn't see her again".

Now that he's broken the dramatic ice, Martin has been deluged with offers to play non-singing roles. But he's looking them over carefully.

Pay TV Turns Back Clock

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (UP)—The nation's first pay television program turned back the clock today to the early days of video.

Curious neighbors crowded into the living rooms of some of the 300 customers who Tuesday paid to see the movies "Pajama Game" and "Mississippi Gambler" on their TV sets.

"I'm going to take steps to keep my home from becoming a movie theater," one customer complained. "This is as bad as the early days of TV."

Another viewer, interior decorator Ronald Darrah, said, "I like movies, and this is the answer. You can stay home and see them." Darrah said "Pajama Game" came over clearer than TV films available from Tulsa.

Movie exhibitors from across the nation and a representative of J. Arthur Rank Studios of England joined townspeople to watch the historic projection through a plate glass window at the Lyric Theater. The movies ran continuously as in the theater.

Some movie men said they didn't think the project would be successful while the movie chain sponsoring the "telemovies" said they thought it would inspire people to see more movies.

The northeastern Oklahoma oil refining town of 28,000 was decorated with banners across the streets which read "Bartlesville, the first telemovie city in the world."

Telemovie was circulated through the city on the initial 300 sets receiving it by wires from a projection booth at the theater.

Customers pay $9.50 a month to see a package of 13 first run and about the same number of re-run films. A switch is attached to their regular TV sets which does not hinder watching regular network programs.

Two projectors and two sets of wires at the Lyric broadcast "Pajama Game" and "Mississippi Gambler" from 1 p.m. until midnight. A movie is shown through once, followed by a five minute intermission with music, and is repeated all day.

Survey Shows Sharp Disagreement on Bible

OBERLIN, Ohio (UP)—American Protestants tend to agree in their beliefs about Jesus Christ, but they disagree sharply in their views on the Bible.

This was brought out today by an unprecedented survey of the "Working Faith" of church members in 10 majority denominations. Results of the survey were presented to the North American Conference of Faith and Order.

The conference, which began Tuesday, is the most ambitious attempt ever made to lay the groundwork for a reunion of Protestant and orthodox churches in North America. Leaders of 47 U.S. and Canadian denominations are participating in the eight-day meeting on the campus at Oberlin College. The Roman Catholic Church sent two "informal observers" but is not officially taking part.

The survey, conducted by a research group of clergymen and educators at Minneapolis, Minn., confirmed the suspicion of church leaders that there is comparatively little relationship today between a man's denominational affiliation and his doctrinal beliefs.

Among the 5,704 Protestants who were polled, differences in belief were found to be as great or greater within members of the same denomination than between members of one denomination and members of another. Similarly, agreement on cardinal points of faith cut across denominational lines.

The researchers reported they found "very substantial" agreement on two doctrines which comprise "the essence of the Christian church."

The "least agreement" was recorded on descriptions of the Bible. Twenty one per cent of the clergy and 22 per cent of the laymen considered it the "infallible, verbally inspired word of God."

An additional 16 per cent of the clergy and 17 per cent of the laymen called it "the infallible word of God but conceded that it may be "subject to errors in the transmission." Twenty five per cent of the clergy and 31 per cent of the laymen described the Bible as the "word of God" without claiming infallability for it.
